Geppert, 2025-03-11 Imperial expositions held in fin de siècle London Paris and Berlin were knots in a world wide web Conceptualizing expositions as meta media Fleeting Cities constitutes a transnational and transdisciplinary investigation into how modernity was created and displayed consumed and disputed in the European metropolis around 1900 The Subterranean Railway Christian Wolmar, 2012-11-01 Since the Victorian era London's Underground has had played a vital role in the daily life of generations of Londoners Christian Wolmar celebrates the vision and determination of the 19th century pioneers who made the world's first and still the largest underground passenger railway one of the most impressive engineering achievements in history From the early days of steam to electrification via the Underground s contribution to 20th century industrial design and its role during two world wars the story comes right up to the present with its sleek driverless trains and the wrangles over the future of the system This book reveals London s hidden wonder in all its glory and shows how the railway beneath the streets helped create the city we know today Transport Policy: Learning Lessons from History Colin Divall, Julian

Hine, 2017-05-15 The key aim of this volume is to demonstrate ways in which an understanding of history can be used to inform present day transport and mobility policies This is not to say that history repeats itself or that every contemporary transport dilemma has an historical counterpart rather the contributors to this book argue that in many contexts of transport planning a better understanding of the context and consequences of past decisions and processes could lead to more effective policy decisions Collectively the authors explore the ways in which the methods and approaches of historical research may be applied to contemporary transport and policy issues across a wide range of transport modes and contexts By linking two bodies of academic research that for the most part remain separate this volume helps to inform current transport and mobility policies and to stimulate innovative new research that links studies of both past and present mobilities When Hitler Took Cocaine and Lenin Lost His Brain Giles Milton, 2016-01-05 Obscure and addictive true tales from history told by one of our most entertaining historians Giles Milton The first installment in Giles Milton s outrageously entertaining series History s Unknown Chapters colorful and accessible intelligent and illuminating Milton shows his customary historical flair as he delves into the little known stories from the past There s the cook aboard the Titanic who pickled himself with whiskey and survived in the icy seas where most everyone else died There s the man who survived the atomic bomb in both Hiroshima and Nagasaki And there s many many more Covering everything from adventure war murder and slavery to espionage including the stories of the female Robinson Crusoe Hitler s final hours Japan s deadly balloon bomb and the emperor of the United States these tales deserve to be told Railways, Urban Development and Town Planning in Britain: 1948-2008

Russell Haywood, 2016-03-23 This book provides a critical overview of the relationships between planning and railway management and development during the key period in the 20th Century when the railway was in public ownership 1948-94 It assesses the strength of the relationships when working in collaboration with the private sector The book then focuses on the interplay between planning and railway since privatization in 1994 and points to best practice for the future in institutional structures and policy development to secure improved outcomes The Little Book of the London Underground David Long, 2010-12-26 Did You Know In 1884 the Circle Line opened and was described in The Times as a form of mild torture which no person would undergo if he could conveniently help it According to one psychologist Tube commuters can experience greater levels of stress than a police officer facing a rioting mob or even a fighter pilot going into a dogfight Underground trains have only twice been used to transport deceased people in coffins William Gladstone and Dr Barnardo

Creating Capitalism James Taylor, 2014 The growth of joint stock business in Victorian Britain re-evaluated showing in particular the resistance to it Winner of the Economic History Society's Best First Monograph award 2009 The emergence of the joint stock company in nineteenth century Britain was a culture shock for many Victorians Though the home of the industrial revolution the nation's economy was dominated by the private partnership seen as the most efficient as well as the most ethical form of business organisation The large impersonal company and the rampant speculation it was thought to encourage were viewed with suspicion and downright hostility This book argues that the existing historiography understates society's resistance to joint stock enterprise it employs an eclectic range of sources from newspapers and parliamentary papers to cartoons novels and plays to unearth this forgotten economic debate It explores how the legal system was gradually restructured to facilitate joint stock enterprise a process culminating in the limited liability legislation of the mid 1850s This has typically been interpreted as evidence for the emergence of new positive attitudes to speculation and economic growth but the book demonstrates how traditional outlooks continued to influence legislation and the way in which economic reforms were driven by political agendas It shows how debates on the economic culture of nineteenth century Britain are strikingly relevant to current questions over the ethics of multinational corporations James Taylor is Senior Lecturer in British History at Lancaster University      Twentieth Century Industrial Archaeology Michael Stratton, Barrie Trinder, 2014-04-04 This book examines the industrial monuments of twentieth century Britain Each chapter takes a specific theme and examines it in the context of the buildings and structure of the twentieth century The authors are both leading experts in the field having written widely on various aspects of the subject In this new and comprehensive survey they respond to the growing interest in twentieth century architecture and industrial archaeology The book is well illustrated with superb and unique illustrations drawn from the archives of the Royal Commission on the Historical Monuments of England It will mark and celebrate the end of the century with a tribute to its remarkable built industrial heritage      The Letters of Richard Cobden Anthony Howe, 2007-11-22 The first of four volumes this book provides a unique insight into the career of one of Britain's leading nineteenth century politicians Richard Cobden 1804-1865 moved rapidly from business success in Manchester into the worlds of local national and international politics providing a case study in social mobility in the Industrial Revolution He travelled extensively visiting the United States the Near East and the continent writing influential pamphlets before undertaking the campaign against the British Corn Laws for which he remains best known Drawing on material from Britain Europe and the United States the letters are accompanied by notes and an introduction by Anthony Howe explaining the unusual history of the letters and re-assessing Cobden's importance in their light But the letters reveal not only Cobden the anti-corn law crusader but provide us with a greater understanding of wider aspects of middle class politics and culture in their formative period in Britain and Europe Together these four volumes provide a unique source on British liberalism in its European and international contexts throwing new light on issues such as the repeal of the Corn Laws the British radical movements the Crimean War the Indian Mutiny and the American Civil War      Nineteenth-Century Travels, Explorations and Empires, Part I Vol 2 Peter J Kitson, William Baker, Indira Ghose, Susan Schoenbauer Thurin, 2021-12-16 A collection of writings on travels undertaken in the Victorian era The texts collected in these volumes show how 19th century travel literature served the interests of empire by promoting British political and economic values that translated into manufacturing goods      The Liberal Unionist Party Ian Cawood, 2012-08-14 The Liberal Unionist party was one of the shortest lived political parties in British history It was formed in 1886 by a faction of the Liberal party led by Lord Hartington which opposed Irish home rule In 1895 it entered into a coalition government with the Conservative party and in 1912 now under the leadership of Joseph Chamberlain it amalgamated with the Conservatives Ian Cawood here uses previously unpublished archival material to provide the first complete study of the Liberal Unionist party He argues that the party was a genuinely successful political movement with widespread activist and popular support which resulted in the development of an authentic Liberal Unionist culture across Britain in the mid 1890s The issues which this book explores are central to an understanding of the development of the twentieth century Conservative party the emergence of a national political culture and the problems both organisational and ideological of a sustained period of coalition in the British parliamentary system
