Exploiting East Asian Cinemas Ken Provencher, Mike Dillon, 2018-01-11 From the 1970s onward exploitation cinema as a concept has circulated inside and outside of East Asian nations and cultures in terms of aesthetics and marketing However crucial questions about how global networks of production and circulation alter the identity of an East Asian film as mainstream or as exploitation have yet to be addressed in a comprehensive way Exploiting East Asian Cinemas serves as the first authoritative guide to the various ways in which contemporary cinema from and about East Asia has trafficked across the somewhat elusive line between mainstream and exploitation Focusing on networks of circulation distribution and reception this collection treats the exploitation cinemas of East Asia as mobile texts produced consumed and in many ways reappropriated across national and hemispheric boundaries As the processes of globalization have decoupled products from their nations of origin transnational taste cultures have declared certain works as art or trash regardless of how those works are received within their native locales By charting the routes of circulation of notable films from Japan China and South Korea this anthology contributes to transnationally accepted formulations of what constitutes East Asian exploitation cinema

The Kaiju Connection Jason Barr, 2023-10-02 What makes a kaiju a kaiju What makes an ape a large ape and why do we sympathize with some such as King Kong and not with others such as Konga And what makes a giant person become a monster This book provides a new perspective on kaiju and reveals that our boundaries for the genre are perhaps not so solid This work focuses primarily on newer kaiju works ranging from Colossal to Shin Godzilla to Godzilla vs Kong but also touches on classics such as King Kong Mighty Joe Young Godzilla Raids Again and lesser known works such as What to Do With the Dead Kaiju and Agon Like our ancestors we have collectively adopted giant monsters into our culture especially our pop culture Within the domains where giant monsters walk we experience the rigidity of our moral structures and the fleeting borders of our definitions of humanity Within the kaiju film genre rest our own assumptions about what makes a monster a monster and more importantly what makes a human a human

Transnational Horror Cinema Sophia Siddique, Raphael Raphael, 2017-02-24 This book broadens the frameworks by which horror is generally addressed Rather than being constrained by psychoanalytical models of repression and castration the volume embraces M M Bakhtin's theory of the grotesque body For Bakhtin the grotesque body is always a political body one that exceeds the boundaries and borders that seek to contain it to make it behave and conform This vital theoretical intervention allows Transnational Horror Cinema to widen its scope to the social and cultural work of these global bodies of excess and the economy of their grotesque exchanges With this in mind the authors consider these bodies potentials to explore and perhaps to explode rigid cultural scripts of embodiment including gender race and ability The Kaiju Film Jason Barr, 2016-02-11 The Kaiju strange monster or strange beast film genre has a number of themes that go well beyond the big monsters stomping on cities motif Since the seminal King Kong 1933 and the archetypal Godzilla 1954 kaiju has mined the subject matter of science run amok militarism capitalism colonialism consumerism and pollution This critical examination of kaiju considers the entirety of the genre the major franchises along with less well known films like Kronos 1957 Monsters 2010 and Pacific Rim 2013 The author examines how kaiju has crossed cultures from its original folkloric inspirations in both the U S and Japan and how the genre continues to reflect national values to audiences
