The Politics Of Diversity Questions For Feminism:

The Politics of Diversity Roberta Hamilton, 1986 This collection of Canadian work addresses the question at the top of the feminist agenda can we properly apprehend the difference between women without losing a common political purpose In Britain and the United States new voices have exposed the illusory universality of feminist movements fragmented by recognition of difference Yet in Canada feminism was built from the outset of recognition of diversity resulting from class ethnicity and region from back cover

The Politics of Rights Andrea Cornwall, Maxine Molyneux, 2013-09-13 Since the late 1990s development institutions have increasingly used the language of rights in their policy and practice This special issue on feminist perspectives on politics of rights explores the strategies tensions and challenges associated with rights work in a variety of settings Articles on the Middle East Africa Latin America East and South Asia explore the dilemmas that arise for feminist praxis in these diverse locations and address the question of what rights can contribute to struggles for gender justice Exploring the intersection of formal rights whether international human rights constitutional rights or national legislation with the everyday realities of women in settings characterized by entrenched gender inequalities and poverty plural legal systems and cultural norms that can constitute formidable obstacles to realizing rights The contributors suggest that these sites of struggle can create new possibilities and meanings and a politics of rights animated by demands for social and gender justice

Feminism and the Politics of Literary Reputation Charlotte Templin, 1995 Soon after its publication in 1973 Fear of Flying brought Erica Jong immense popular success and media fame Alternately pegged sassy and vulgar Jong's novel embraced the politics of the women's liberation movement and challenged the definition of female sexuality Yet today more than twenty years and several books later literary reputation continues for the most part to elude Jong Typecast by her adversaries as a media seeking sensationalist Erica Jong has been unfairly side stepped by academia Charlotte Templin contends In this carefully researched study augmented by personal interviews with Jong Templin assembles and analyzes the medley of responses to Jong's books by reviewers critics writers academics and the media by liberals conservatives and feminists She examines the diverse opinions on the merit and relevance to contemporary life of Fear of Flying the invocation of a high culture low culture dichotomy to discredit How to Save Your Own Life the anatomy of literary success with Fanny Jong's reception in a postfeminist age and the trivialization of Jong's works that is inevitable with mass media exposure Templin also shows how antagonistic reviewers tend to identify Jong with her fictitious characters a practice more common when the author is a woman and judge her to be guilty of the sin of not being a proper woman In turn she shows how reviewers reveal something of their own values and ideological biases in their critiques and how literary reputations are built destroyed and altered over time The first book to make a detailed examination of the reputation of a woman writer Feminism and the Politics of Literary Reputation provides an excellent case study for the literary reception of women writers within a broad cultural context Templin's analysis offers valuable insight into the reception of women writers especially commercially successful women writers and dramatically illustrates the relation of literary reputation to popular appeal and cultural mores Feminists Theorize the Political Judith Butler, Joan W.

Scott, 2013-10-28 A collection of work by leading feminist scholars engaging with the question of the political status of poststructuralism within feminism and affirming the contemporary debate over theory as politically rich and consequential

Feminist Knowledge (RLE Feminist Theory) Sneja Gunew, 2013-05-20 The minority feminist viewpoints have often been submerged in the interests of maintaining a mainstream universal model of feminism This anthology takes into account the various differences among women while looking at the important areas of feminist struggle While sisterhood is indeed global it certainly does not mean that all women are required to submerge their specific differences and assimilate to a universal model Consequently the collection includes essays by leaders in the field of post structuralist enquiry as well as by those immersed in the new spirituality and the social consequences of recent biological research Other essays reflect the political struggles which continue to be waged with different strategies by socialist and radical feminists and the self searching analyses undertaken by feminists uneasy about their inclusion within educational institutions and the radical new interpretations of sexuality within the cultural domain The collection begins with a critique of white mainstream feminism emanating from Aboriginal women in Australia The implications of the critique indicate that there is a pervasive racism within the feminist movement

Addressing Cultural Issues in Organizations Robert T. tracing the development of her thought from her first book to her most recent works Working Alliances and the Politics of Difference Janet R. Jakobsen, 1998 Maintaining that the key to building alliances is to learn to work with diversity rather than contain it Jakobson women's studies and religious studies U of Arizona proposes that ethical theory has had limited success in leading to alliances because it has ignored the role of complexity in liberal political and economic discourses of pluralism and free markets and in counter public discourses and movements situated around identity politics or a politics of difference
