Subcommittee on Equipment, Supplies, and Manpower, 1958      A World of Its Own Matt Garcia, 2010-01-27 Tracing the history of intercultural struggle and cooperation in the citrus belt of Greater Los Angeles Matt Garcia explores the social and cultural forces that helped make the city the expansive and diverse metropolis that it is today As the citrus growing regions of the San Gabriel and Pomona Valleys in eastern Los Angeles County expanded during the early twentieth century the agricultural industry there developed along segregated lines primarily between white landowners and Mexican and Asian laborers Initially these communities were sharply divided But Los Angeles unlike other agricultural regions saw important opportunities for intercultural exchange develop around the arts and within multiethnic community groups Whether fostered in such informal settings as dance halls and theaters or in such formal organizations as the Intercultural Council of Claremont or the Southern California Unity Leagues these interethnic encounters formed the basis for political cooperation to address labor discrimination and solve problems of residential and educational segregation Though intercultural collaborations were not always successful Garcia argues that they constitute an important chapter not only in Southern California's social and cultural development but also in the larger history of American race relations      Contracting Freedom Maria L. Quintana, 2022-05-10 Contracting Freedom is the first relational study of the origins of twentieth century U S guestworker programs from Mexico and the Caribbean It investigates these government sponsored programs as the unexplored consequence of enslaved labor Japanese American incarceration the New Deal the long civil rights movement and Caribbean decolonization In the World War II era U S lawmakers and activists alike celebrated guestworker agreements with Mexico and the Caribbean as hallmarks of anti imperialism and worker freedom A New Deal based conception of racial liberalism inspired many of these government officials and labor advocates to demand a turn toward state sponsored labor contracts across the hemisphere to protect migrant workers welfare and treatment in the postwar world Their view of liberalism emphasized the value of formal labor contracts bilateral agreements between nation states state power and equal rights all of which they described as advances beyond older labor arrangements forged under colonialism and slavery Eighty years later their conceptions of guestworker programs continue to shape political understandings of the immigration debate as these programs are often considered a solution to offset the deportation regime and as a response to increasingly rigid racist measures to close U S borders to migrants Maria Quintana s compelling history shifts the focus on guestworker programs to the arena of political conflict revealing how fierce debates over the bracero program and Caribbean contract labor programs extended and legitimated U S racial and imperial domination into the present era It also unearths contract workers emerging visions of social justice that challenged this reproduction of race and empire giving freedom new meanings that must be contemplated      Hearings Before the Committee on Agriculture, House of Representatives, Eighty-fifth Congress United States.
