Lizbet Simmons

The Prison:

The Fall of the Prison Lee Griffith, 1993 Examining prisons from the perspectives of sociology theology history and biblical exegesis Griffith argues that the church has taken a woefully wrong turn by aligning itself with the traditional justice system He shows how prisons are clearly ineffective at deterring crime and rehabilitating offenders and maintains that Christians should be even more concerned with how the prison fails in principle than how it fails in practice The Prison School Lizbet Simmons, 2017 Police officers and metal detectors have become fixtures in American public schools In this tough on crime security oriented era the new gold standard for school discipline has become the criminal justice system While harsh school punishment has reshaped schools and communities across the socioeconomic divide nowhere is the overlap between classroom and prison more striking than at the Orleans Parish Prison the site of a New Orleans public school enrolling primarily poor African American boys expelled under zero tolerance policies for minor infractions such as tardiness but not actual criminal behavior The Prison School examines how and why public schools take a punitive approach to education and analyzes how this criminalizing mode influences a student s approach toward correctional custody How did schools and prisons two very different kinds of public institutions become so intertwined and what does this combination mean for students communities and ultimately a democratic society How do we begin to unravel the ties that bind the racialized realities of mass school failure and mass incarceration And what does this mean to segments of the population in particular African American males who have been systematically removed from their schools and their society Provided by publisher Report on the Work of the Prison Department: (1975-1976) Gran Bretaña.
