Max Martin, Gilles Chantraine, 2018-02-12 This edited collection analyses the prison through the most fundamental challenge it faces escapes The chapters comprise original research from established prison scholars who develop the contours of a sociology of prison escapes Drawing on firm empirical evidence from places like India Tunisia Canada the UK France Uganda Italy Sierra Leone and Mexico the authors show how escapes not only break the prison but are also fundamental to the existence of such institutions how they are imagined designed organized justified reproduced and transformed The chapters are organised in four interconnected themes resistance and everyday life politics and transition imaginaries and popular culture and law and bureaucracy which reflect how escapes are productive local historical and equivocal social practices and integral to the mysterious intransigence of the prison The result is a critical and theoretically informed understanding of prison escapes which has so far been absent in prison scholarship and which will hold broad appeal to academics and students of prisons and penology as well as practitioners

I Am (Not) a Number Alex Cox, 2017-12-07 The enormously puzzling TV series The Prisoner has developed a rapt cult following and has often been described as surreal or Kafkaesque In I Am Not a Number Cox takes an opposing view While the series has surreal elements he believes it provides the answers to all the questions which have confounded viewers who is Number 6 Who runs The Village Who or what is Number 1 According to Cox the key is to view the series in the order in which the episodes were made not in the order of the UK or US television screenings In this book he does exactly that and provides an entirely original and controversial explanation for what is perhaps the best and certainly the most perplexing TV series of all time
