Rawlyk, 1994 Five leading Canadian religious historians address the Canadian Protestant experience Each author considers a separate period taking into account the major underlying themes of the time and noting the influence exerted by key personalities As this collection shows Protestantism had its most profound effects on Canadian life in the nineteenth century As the twentieth century unfolded however Canadian Protestantism battered by demographic change profound inner doubt so-called modernity and secularization was gradually pushed to the periphery of Canadian experience The contributors are Phyllis D Airhart Nancy Christie Michael Gauvreau John G Stackhouse Jr and Robert A Wright The Sixties and Beyond Nancy Christie, Michael Gauvreau, 2013-01-01 In the decades following the Second World War North America and Western Europe experienced widespread secularization and dechristianization many scholars have pinpointed the 1960s as a pivotally important period in this decline The Sixties and Beyond examines the scope and significance of dechristianization in the western world between 1945 and 2000 A thematically wide-ranging and interdisciplinary collection The Sixties and Beyond uses a framework that compares the social and cultural experiences of North America and Western Europe during this period The internationally based contributors examine the dynamic place of Christianity in both private lives and public discourses

Canada's Other Red Scare Scott Rutherford, 2020-12-17 Indigenous activism put small town northern Ontario on the map in the 1960s and early 1970s Kenora Ontario was home to a four hundred person march popularly called Canada's First Civil Rights March and a two month long armed occupation of a small lakefront park Canada's Other Red Scare shows how important it is to link the local and the global to broaden narratives of resistance in the 1960s it is a history not of isolated events closed off from the present but of decolonization as a continuing process Scott Rutherford explores with rigour and sensitivity the Indigenous political protest and social struggle that took place in Northwestern Ontario and Treaty 3 territory from 1965 to 1974 Drawing on archival documents media coverage published interviews memoirs and social movement literature as well as his own lived experience as a settler growing up in Kenora he reconstructs a period of turbulent protest and the responses it provoked from support to disbelief to outright hostility Indigenous organizers advocated for a wide range of issues from better employment opportunities to the recognition of nationhood by using such tactics as marches cultural production community organizing journalism and armed occupation They drew inspiration from global currents from black American freedom movements to Third World decolonization to challenge the inequalities and racial logics that shaped settler colonialism and daily life in Kenora Accessible and wide reaching Canada's Other Red Scare makes the case that Indigenous political protest during this period should be thought of as both local and transnational an urgent exercise in confronting the experience of settler colonialism in places and moments of protest when its logic and acts of dispossession are held up like a mirror
