Sounds English Transnational Popular Music:

Sounds English Nabeel Zuberi, 2001 Zuberi looks at how the sounds images and lyrics of English popular music generate and critique ideas of national belonging recasting the social and even the physical landscapes of cities like Manchester and London The Smiths and Morrissey play on romanticized notions of the white English working class while the Pet Shop Boys map a queer urban Britain in the AIDS era The techno culture of raves and dance clubs incorporates both an anti institutional do it yourself politics and emergent leisure practices while the potent mix of technology and creativity in British black music includes local conditions as well as a sense of global diaspora British Asian musicians drawing on Afrodiasporic and South Asian traditions seek a sense of place in Britain as commercial interests try to pin down an image of them to market Sounds English shows how popular music complicates cherished notions of Englishness as it activates cultural outsiders and taps into a sense of not belonging BOOK JACKET Jews, Race and Popular Music Jon

Stratton, 2017-07-05 Jon Stratton provides a pioneering work on Jews as a racialized group in the popular music of America Britain and Australia during the twentieth and early twenty first centuries Rather than taking a narrative historical approach the book consists of a number of case studies looking at the American British and Australian music industries Stratton's primary motivation is to uncover how the racialized positioning of Jews which was sometimes similar but often different in each of the societies under consideration affected the kinds of music with which Jews have become involved Stratton explores race as a cultural construction and continues discussions undertaken in Jewish Studies concerning the racialization of the Jews and the stereotyping of Jews in order to present an in depth and critical understanding of Jews race and popular music The Routledge Companion to Popular Music Analysis Ciro Scotto, Kenneth M. Flip the Script J. Griffith Rollefson, 2017-10-23 Hip hop has long been a vehicle for protest in the United States used by its primarily African American creators to address issues of prejudice repression and exclusion But the music is now a worldwide phenomenon and outside the United States it has been taken up by those facing similar struggles Flip the Script offers a close look at the role of hip hop in Europe where it has become a politically powerful and commercially successful form of expression for the children and grandchildren of immigrants from former colonies Through analysis of recorded music and other media as well as interviews and fieldwork with hip hop communities J Griffith Rollefson shows how this music created by black Americans is deployed by Senegalese Parisians Turkish Berliners and South Asian Londoners to both differentiate themselves from and relate themselves to the dominant culture By listening closely to the ways these postcolonial citizens in Europe express their solidarity with African Americans through music Rollefson shows we can literally hear the hybrid realities of a global double consciousness
