Catalog of Books*, 1996 Stories of Desire and Narratives of Faith Victor Hunter, Lanny Hunter, 2019-04-02 Stories are the foundation for identity and the ground of understanding Stories of Desire and Narratives of Faith addresses humankind's search for identity and meaning through the stories of science and religion Both arose in the mists of history Both are awe inspiring Both beggar the imagination Both have always competed for authority Science gained preeminence in our postmodern pluralistic globalized world as evidenced based while religion for many reasons lost credibility Yet religion has not disappeared Stories is a concise engaging inspiring accessible account of the history of science geological and biological evolution perceived through increasingly sophisticated technology and the history of nine text based world religions of antiquity Stories avoids insider language democratizing both God talk and scientific jargon without patronizing either There is no attempt to identify the best or truest religion and Stories disavows dogmatic religious triumphalism The authors do follow the tradition of giving an account of their Christian faith the only religious story with which they have experience They invite others to do the same paying attention to their own stories as they grapple with modern science do theology and engage faith Stories proposes how and in what manner these disciplines can meaningfully converse in today s world Western civilization Marvin

Toward a Global Science Susantha Goonatilake, 1998 Asian science such as mathematics Chinese printing gunpowder and the compass all contributed to the development of European science During the last few centuries however scientific contributions with Asian roots have diminished and been marginalized and delegitimised Yet the center of the world economy today is shifting to Asia with shifts in science and technology bound to follow Toward a Global Science is driven by the proposition that pre Renaissance acquisition of Asian knowledge did not exhaust Asian civilization's potential contribution There are many useful elements to modern science still lying hidden in Asian civilizational stores waiting to be mined The author gives details of recent contributions from South Asian medicine mathematics and psychology and explores how South Asian inputs can be useful in navigating the philosophical and ethical problems raised by two dominant technologies of the future namely biotechnology and information technology As an illustrative example it describes how a fruitful marriage of one technology virtual reality with South Asian philosophy can enliven both the technology as well as philosophy It also examines how Asian positions could be used to feed some key contemporary philosophical discussions on science Using a model of the civilizational construction of science the book views science without Eurocentric blinders It documents how science was built initially by transfers from non European civilizations and why the given historiography of science has to be rethought Throughout the book the author gives examples of parallels and antecedents between East and West in science and estimates the potential reservoir of Asian knowledge in each field The book also deals with the many knotty problems in recovering science from past traditions The author distinguishes between his secular efforts from religious and other attempts that claim the equivalence of all knowledge
