Alfred Raworth's Electric Southern Railway Peter Steer, 2022-05-05 The Southern Railway between 1923 and 1939 was the only British company to carry out a sustained programme of electrification which became known as the Southern Electric. Unlike many recent projects each incremental step was completed on time and within budget. This successful project was more impressive as it was achieved during a period of economic stagnation including the great depression and despite government disapproval of the method of electrification. The driving force behind this endeavor was the railway's general manager Sir Herbert Walker but at his side was his electrical engineer Alfred Raworth the man one journalist described as an electrification genius. Alfred Raworth's career began working with his father the eminent consulting engineer and entrepreneur John Smith Raworth. Following the collapse of his father's business Alfred joined the railway industry and devised an ambitious and innovative electrification design. This was discarded when the railways of southern England were grouped into the Southern Railway after which he took responsibility for the implementation of the electrification schemes. With Walker's retirement in 1937 those who continued to support steam traction took the policy lead. A marginalised Raworth retired but was later to witness the fruition of many of his discarded ideas. Southern Imagining Elleke

Boehmer, 2025-12-30 A new compass for global reading looking at the world from the far southern latitudes. A northern viewpoint is most often the default while the south the far southern latitudes occupied by Australia New Zealand Argentina and southern Africa among others seems far away and ignorable. In Southern Imagining Elleke Boehmer offers an alternative perspective using literary scientific and cultural material to explore how we look at the world from the south. Reading she argues is a transformative means of reversing our usual planetary orientation and rearranging our perceptual geography. Boehmer examines writing from across southern continents and islands considering how we imaginatively inhabit the farthest reaches of our planet. Creators ranging from the Portuguese epic poet Luís de Camões to Samuel Taylor Coleridge Charles Darwin Katherine Mansfield Jorge Luis Borges and ancient Indigenous storytellers capture the edgy and austere experiences of the far south. For Boehmer imaginative work stimulates and shapes our phenomenological understanding. Southerners often see themselves as far away from where things count as outsiders internalising the wider global sense of their relative insignificance. Conversely when northerners read or hear legends narratives songs and poems from the south it is as if they are located in the south at least for the duration of the reading or listening. Boehmer suggests that the south tilted world map re-centred through song and story invites us to claim a more involved sense of belonging to our planet both its north and its south. The writers of the south disrupt conventional ways of seeing and invite us to inhabit our globe differently. Southern EMUs in Colour John C. Diesel and Electric Motive Power on the Southern 1980s to Present David Goodyear, 2025-08-31 With the era of British Railways transition from steam to diesel and electric influencing the country wide fleets of trains beyond the 1970s the Southern proved no exception to such integrated within its flotillas of commuter electric trains Southern Region motive power was territorial thanks to the requirement for electric trains to remain within the live third rail network Remaining pockets of non electrified routes provided the last bastions of diesel electric units and locomotive hauled trains not only in Dorset Sussex and Hampshire but also especially along the South West mainline to Exeter Although with a limited range of Class 33 47 50 and 73 locomotives serving the passenger sector in the 1980s there remained interesting passenger workings to note such as that along Weymouth Quay or through the rural tranquillity of Devon's countryside to Barnstaple Railfreight ensured a wider variety of locomotives within in the Region Standard colours of B R blue and grey livery may have been monotonous but the bright and clean Network SouthEast colours were welcomed along with the much needed emphasis on running clean and punctual services as part of the Network SouthEast ethos Brand new fleets of trains in the Southern area continue to offer the railway enthusiast and photographer the chance to study the impact of privatisation in the modern railway Fortunately we have several preserved lines in the Southern area which perfectly capture the character of the traditional Southern branch line in the days of heritage diesels
