

Southern Homefront 1861-1865

Joseph A. Fry

Southern Homefront 1861-1865:

Women and the American Civil War Theresa McDevitt, 2003-09-30 The first reference work to draw together the stories and studies of women in the American Civil War this annotated bibliography offers access to the literature that documents the history of women who experienced the war changed it and were changed by it Offering nearly 800 entries it lists both primary and secondary sources classic and current works and items in print and available on the Internet Drawing together over one hundred years of writings Women in the American Civil War An Annotated Bibliography is an invaluable resource for readers and researchers interested in this neglected topic During the American Civil War women played a highly significant role yet modern writers often overlook their experiences and contributions Women in the American Civil War An Annotated Bibliography is the first reference work to focus exclusively on women in the war Sections list sources on such diverse topics as women as nurses and medical relief workers women's changing economic roles their lives as refugees as spies and scouts or in military camps It also looks at the literature on the miscellaneous topics of women in public wives of politicians and military commanders family life and women on the wrong side of the law Henrico Home Front,

1861-1865 James Henry Bailey, 1963 The Home Front in the South Diane Smolinski, 2001-01-01 Describes daily life and society of southerners during the Civil War and explains how the largely agricultural economy played a role in their lives

Letters from the Southern Home Front Joseph A. Fry, 2022-10-05 Joseph A Fry's Letters from the Southern Home Front explores the diversity of public opinion on the Vietnam War within the American South Fry examines correspondence sent by hundreds of individuals of differing ages genders racial backgrounds political views and economic status reflecting a broad swath of the southern population These letters addressed to high profile political figures and influential newspapers took up a myriad of war related issues Their messages enhance our understanding of the South and the United States as a whole as we continue to grapple with the significance of this devastating and divisive conflict The American Civil War, 1861-1865 Reid Mitchell, 2013-11-14 The American Civil War caused upheaval and massive private bereavement but the years 1861-1865 also defined a great nation This book provides a concise introduction to events from the secession to the end of the war It focuses on the military progress of the war Union and Confederate politics social change particularly the emancipation of North American slaves The social history associated with the war is dealt with alongside the familiar military and political events This inclusive approach allows the reader to consider equally the history of men and women blacks and whites in the conflict It deals with both the Union and the Confederacy integrating the latest literature on the war and society into a clear account The book concludes with an assessment of emancipation the rebuilding of the economy and the war's consequences An array of primary documents supports the text together with a chronology glossary and Who's Who guide to key figures Confederate Home Front William Warren Rogers, 1999 Drawing from a wealth of historic documents and personal papers William Warren Rogers Jr provides a detailed political economic social and commercial history of

Montgomery Alabama from 1860 to 1865 Rogers s account begins with an examination of daily life in the city before the war and ends with the situation in Montgomery as set against a disintegrating Confederacy and the city s surrender to Union troops

The Confederate States of America, 1861-1865 E. Merton Coulter, 1950-06-01 This book is the trade edition of Volume VII of A History of the South a ten volume series designed to present a thoroughly balanced history of all the complex aspects of the South s culture from 1607 to the present Like its companion volumes The Confederate States of America is written by an outstanding student of Southern history E Merton Coulter who is also one of the editors of the series and the author of Volume VIII The drama of war has led most historians to deal with the years 1861 to 1865 in terms of campaigns and generals In this volume however Mr Coulter treats the war in its perspective as an aspect of the life of a people The attempt to build a nation strong enough to win independence naturally drew Southerners attention to such problems as morale money bonds taxes diplomacy manufacturing transportation communication publishing armaments religion labor prices profits race problems and political policy Mr Coulter balances these phases of the struggle in their relation to war itself and the whole is dealt with as a period in the history of a people And finally Mr Coulter deals with the ever recurring questions Did secession necessarily mean war Was the South from the very beginning engaged in a hopeless struggle And if not why did it lose

Life Goes on James R. Arnold, Roberta Wiener, 2001-11-01 Looks at life on the home front during the Civil War examining the experiences of men and women from the North and South who kept farms factories hospitals homes and other institutions running during the conflict

North Carolina English, 1861-1865 Michael E. Ellis, 2024-01-12 In North Carolina English 1861 1865 Michael E Ellis offers an Oxford English Dictionary like take on regional language based on more than two thousand letters and diaries composed by North Carolinians during the Civil War These documents are part of a larger project the Corpus of American Civil War Letters CACWL aimed at locating photographing and transcribing letters written during the period from all parts of the country With little formal education the correspondents were men and women who wrote by ear often reproducing their spoken language through unconventional spellings and grammatical forms as well as regional or archaic words and usages The core of the book is an alphabetically arranged glossary of words and expressions characteristic of mid nineteenth century North Carolina each containing excerpts from the letters themselves to illustrate meaning and usage While the majority of the writers were Confederate soldiers and their family members the collection also includes letters from slaves former slaves and African Americans from North Carolina serving in the Union Army The soldiers letters rarely contain details about battles except to list the names of relatives or neighbors among the killed or wounded After a battle a soldier might simply write the Like of ded men an horses I never saw before or we hav lost a heap of men and kild a heap of yankeys As Joel Howard of Lincoln County wrote home in June 1863 I have bin in the ware and Saw the ware and heard tell of the ware till I have got tired of it if I Could get clear of this ware I neve r want to Read of A nother Food is perhaps the most common topic followed by illness Numerous terms relate to farming clothing religion and the effects of the war itself as well as entries for expressions that have long since disappeared from American English in the gants on the goose and up the spout In addition to the glossary Ellis offers an extensive overview of North Carolina English of the period delves into the social background of the letter writers and provides invaluable guidance to the ways in which Civil War letters should be read A unique window into a largely neglected corner of our extraordinarily rich and regionally distinct language this volume will prove an indispensable reference for scholars and students seeking to reconstruct the world of the common Civil War soldier The Southern Home Front of the Civil War Roberta Baxter, 2011-01-01 Describes life in the southern United States during the Civil War discussing life on farms plantations and in cities and the roles played by women children and slaves
