Women's Rights in Islam Asmaa Shehata, 2023-11-20 The issue of Muslim women's rights never seems outdated and has become trendy in the post 9/11 environment That is the mainstream media and Western politicians often view Muslim women as victims of male patriarchy and frequently justify Western involvement in the Middle East and in other Muslim majority countries at least in part to rescue women Within this realm Nawal El Saadawi is a famous Egyptian writer whose writings focus on the struggle of Muslim women and are widely read in the Middle East and many Western societies as well Because of her bold feminist views on politics religions and gender she is described as the Simone de Beauvoir of the Arab world After the death of El Saadawi in 2021 a flurry of arguments and criticism in the Egyptian press and women's press around the world is created in which different social media platforms were filled with numerous comments and discussions of her writings and arguments Whereas some mourned El Saadawi and her dedication to women's issues others celebrated her death wishing her the worst punishment in the afterlife for what they described as her destructive thoughts This monograph genuinely analyzes her views on five controversial issues marriage polygamy divorce inheritance rights and veiling in light of Qur'anic exegeses offered by two classical scholars i.e. Muhammad ibn Jarir Al Tabari and Ismail ibn Umar Ibn Kathir and two contemporary Muslim feminists i.e. Amina Wadud and Azizah Al Hibri By taking a critical look at her views the book contributes not only to this ongoing debate but adds value to assessing El Saadawi's work and helps readers gain a greater understanding of her writings as well It also enables readers to comprehend the current tension between feminism and Islam by understanding the perspectives of both sides Since El Saadawi's writings are available in the Western countries the book would appeal to academics researchers on Islam and gender and Middle Eastern women as well as to lay audiences interested in women and gender in Muslim societies

Zeidan, J?z?f Zayd?n, 1995-01-01 This book assesses the contribution of women to the Arabic novel both in subject matter and form It begins by tracing the struggle over women s rights in the Arab world particularly the gradual improvement in women s access to education the first area in which women made significant gains Subsequent chapters discuss Arab women writers remarkable talents and determination to overcome the barriers of a male dominated culture survey the 1950s and 1960s during which women s writing gained momentum and more women writers emerged and address the shift in emphasis and attitude that women s literature underwent in the late 1960s especially following the 1967 Arab Israeli war when women novelists began to place more stress on international politics Zeidan adapts Western based feminist literary theory to a discussion of Arab women s literature but refrains from imposing that theory inappropriately on literature whose context differs significantly He compares the women s movements in Arab and Western cultures and the development of women s literature in those cultures and uses these comparisons to highlight similarities and differences between them as well as to consider how one affected the other His analysis culminates in the early 1980s the end of the formative years when women s writing had become a familiar part of Arabic literature in general and a positive reflection on the collective Arab consciousness Woman's Body, Woman's Word Fedwa Malti-Douglas, 2019-01-15 Woman s voice and body are closely entwined in the Arabo Islamic tradition argues Fedwa Malti Douglas in this pioneering book Spanning the ninth through twentieth centuries and covering a wide range of texts from courtly anecdote to mystical and philosophical treatises from works of geography to autobiography this study reveals how woman s access to literary speech has remained mediated through her body Malti Douglas first analyzes classical texts both well known works like The Thousand and One Nights and others still ignored in the West in which the female voice often associated with wit or trickery of a sexual nature is subordinated to the male scriptor Showing how early Arabo Islamic discourse continues to influence contemporary Arabic writing she maintains that today feminist writers of novels short stories and autobiography must work through this tradition even if they subvert or reject it in the end Whereas woman in the classical period speaks through the body woman in the modern period often turns corporeality into a literary weapon to achieve power over discourse Fedwa Malti Douglas is Professor of Arabic and Comparative Literature at the University of Texas Austin Her books include Structures of Avarice The Bukhala in Medieval Arabic Literature Leiden and Blindness and Autobiography Al Ayyam of Taha Husayn Princeton Originally published in 1991 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in
