The Chronic Psychiatric Patient in the Community R.D. Budson, I. Barofsky, 2012-12-06 The purpose of this book is to present an integrated approach to the treatment of the chronic psychiatric patient living in the community. This requires that topics as diverse as pharmacokinetics, psychotherapy, and community organization be appropriately coordinated. Such an approach is partly complicated by the wide range of differences among patients in terms of social skills, intellectual capacity, and psychiatric diagnosis. In addition, unclear, insular, or overlapping roles of various mental health disciplines further confound integrated treatment efforts. Given such complexity, any single clinician's point of view is subject to the distortion inherent in specialization. Too often a volume in the field of mental health focuses either on only one aspect or presents only one clinician's unique perspective of a task that is in fact multifaceted. We have tried to avoid this pitfall by having representatives from many of the concerned professions present a variety of treatment approaches and associated issues in one text. Further, the editors have attempted to illuminate the relevant clinical and/or administrative interrelationship between the subjects of each section through a succinct introductory commentary. The book is divided into five sections. The first section represents an attempt to address some of the interactive sociological, psychological, and pharmacological background issues common to all attempts at treatment of this population.

Digital Health: A Transformative Approach Helen Almond, Carey Mather, 2023-09-25 Digital Health: A Transformative Approach is designed to prepare Australia and New Zealand's future health and social care workforce for the rapidly evolving digital health landscape. It is the first local health informatics title reflecting Australasia-specific contexts, and its learning objectives are aligned to National Digital Health Strategies and Frameworks. A scaffolded approach to learning makes this text suitable for all health and social care professionals from early learners developing skills to those more capable who want to adapt and lead in digital health. The text is supported by online case studies that will assist development of digital professionalism and understanding requirements of digital technology across clinical research, education, and administration in diverse health and social care environments. Information presented across four units and 12 chapters that support learning and teaching and help build learners' work readiness. Scaffolded approach across three levels of capability: empowered, transitional, and entrusted, suitable for undergraduate, postgraduate, and ongoing professional development. Supported by an Elsevier Adaptive Quizzing (EAQ) to provide formative assessment across the three levels. Includes telehealth, electronic medical health records, clinical technologies, disaster planning, interoperability, and precision health care. Additional online case studies to support advanced learning.
