Social Change And The Aged Recent Trends In The United States:

Social Change and the Aged Fred C. Pampel, 1981 Old Age in Modern Society Christina R. Victor, 2013-11-11 Old age is a part of the lifecycle about which there are numerous myths and stereotypes To present an overstatement of commonly held beliefs the old are portrayed as dependent individuals characterized by a lack of social autonomy unloved and neglected by both their immediate family and friends and posing a threat to the living standards of younger age groups by being a burden that consumes without producing Older people are perceived as a single homogeneous group and the experiment of ageing characterized as being the same for all individuals irrespective of the diversity of their circumstances before the onset of old age In this book detailed statistical material is used to portray the circumstances of older people in modern society in an attempt to evaluate the appropriateness or otherwise of the major stereotypes of later life This volume does not address ageing from a psychological or micro social perspective In particular we do not explore major issues relating to old age Rather we feel that from the extensive collection of surveys concerned with the elderly we can provide a context within which individual elderly people can be studied from more anthropological or biographical perspectives

Age, Class, Politics, and the Welfare State Fred C. Pampel, John B. Williamson, 1989 Detailed analysis of data from the UN ILO and the World Bank leads to the conclusion that a large aged population especially in combination with democratic political processes has a direct and crucial influence on the level of welfare expenditures Annual Review of Gerontology and Geriatrics M. Powell Lawton, George L. Maddox, 2013-12-01 Social Security Bulletin, 1981 Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1993 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965-70 International Handbook of Population Aging Peter Uhlenberg, 2009-04-29 The International Handbook of Population Aging examines research on a wide array of the profound implications of population aging It demonstrates how the world is changing through population aging and how demography is changing in response to it Varieties of Aging George L. Maddox, 2013-12-19 Who Will Care for Us? Ronald Angel, Jacqueline L. Angel, 1999-06 An important contribution to the on going national dialogue concerning the need for planning for an increasingly aged population and its impact on our social political medical economic institutions Wisconsin Bookwatch Based on their assessments of the levels of need for the long term care among African American Latino and non Latino white older persons the authors offer viable and attractive possible alternatives to institutionalization in the long term care of the elderly Nurse Practitioner A major contribution Should be a part of every course on social gerontology long term care the demography of aging or formal informal support networks of the elderly Robert Joseph Taylor Institute for Social Research University of Michigan America is getting older By the year 2010 almost one in five Americans will be 65 years of age or older The combined forces of low fertility and longer life spans among all racial and ethnic groups have resulted in a disproportionate increase in the number of individuals over 65 and an even faster increase in the proportion of those individuals over eighty five As a result the nation faces an unprecedented challenge in addressing the economic medical and long term care needs of this older population at the same time that it assures the welfare of the young The growth of the cost of the long term care of the elderly is one of the major forces behind recent increases in Medicaid expenditures and any reformed health care financing system will have to find ways of providing high quality long term care to older Americans at a reasonable cost In a racially and culturally diverse nation like the United States official policy regarding the care of the elderly simply cannot be based on the assumption that the elderly are a culturally and socially monolithic population The cultural social and economic situations of the elderly simply differ too greatly and the family s role in their care is affected by important cultural and social factors In Who Will Care for Us Ronald J and Jacqueline L Angel argue that policies based on the assumption of a homogenous population will fail to take advantage of the opportunities that ethnic and cultural diversity offer for the long term care of the elderly The authors examine the great racial and ethnic diversity among the elderly in the contemporary U S in terms of living arrangements economic well being and reliance on formal and family based sources of support Based on their assessments of the levels of need for long term care among black Hispanic and non Hispanic white older persons they offer viable and attractive possible alternatives to institutionalization in the long term care of the elderly Ethnicity and the New Family Economy Frances K.

Goldscheider,2019-03-19 This book focuses on the way the family economy is being shaped both by changes in living arrangements and in intergenerational financial flows It addresses issues of variations in the processes in the United States particularly differences among ethnic racial and religious communities Handbook of Marriage and the Family

Suzanne K. Steinmetz,Marvin B. Sussman,2013-11-11 The lucid straightforward Preface of this Handbook by the two editors and the comprehensive perspectives offered in the Introduction by one of them leave little for a Foreword to add It is therefore limited to two relevant but not intrinsically related points vis a vis research on marriage and the family in the interval since the first Handbook Christensen 1964 appeared namely the impact on this research of the politicization of the New Right and of the Feminist Enlightenment beginning in the mid sixties about the time of the first Handbook In the late 1930s Willard Waller noted Fifty years or more ago about 1890 most people had the greatest respect for the institution called the family and wished to learn nothing whatever about it Everything that concerned the life of men and women and their children was shrouded from the light Today much of that has been changed Gone is the concealment of the way in which life begins gone the irrational sanctity of the home The aura of sentiment which once protected the family from discussion clings to it no more We want to learn as much about it as we can and to understand it as thoroughly as possible for there is a rising recognition in America that vast numbers of its families are sick from internal frustrations and from external buffeting We are engaged in the process of reconstructing our family institutions through criticism and discussion 1938 pp 3 4

Imploding Populations in Japan and Germany Florian Coulmas,Ralph Lützel,2011-06-09 Japan and Germany are at the vanguard of a new population dynamics in developed countries population decline in the absence of war famine and
