South Africa's Silent Revolution John Kane-Berman, 1991

Africa's Quiet Revolution Observed from Nigeri

Dominic Okereke, 2012-07 This book prescribes rapid revolution in principal sectors of this African economy through radical paradigm changes And the resultant comprehensive transformation will guarantee significantly higher productivities and double digit annual economic growth Included in this paradigm shift is the joint reindustrialization of the African economy and the US ailing industries via a new Strategic trans Atlantic Alliance modeled on the balanced Euro US cooperation after World War II But it first takes readers through a thorough evaluation of the familiar subject corruption which haunts Nigeria the principal economy in the continent The fundamental difference with other texts on the subject is that this book identifies the most debilitating variant of that corruption That variant causes massive capital flight from a post colonial soft economy that is neither capitalist nor socialist The Nigerian corruption thrives on the native Philosophy of Commission hardened by intractable tribalism that coagulated and ossified with the imports substitution pattern preferred by European firms since independence The book then proceeds to earn its priced revolutionary credential by inventing very novel scientific methods that will skillfully turn this insidious source of structural rigidity and arrested development into a force for economic growth A new apex political leadership culture is recommended and to be fortified with a unifying lingua franca An inter ethnic marriage melting pot is advised for intensified nigerianization of Nigerian youths at birth Spiritual diversity is envisaged to significantly diminish religious intolerance and sectarian violence Modern bureaucracy and inward looking tourism are reformulated to reduce effervescent insecurity and minimize capital flight The resultant economic stability will enlarge domestic foreign investment inflow and will reverse the current dis industrialization and massive job loss and the conditions of under full employment Technological Functionalism Economic pan Africanism and the Alternative Policy of Inputs Substitution are among the several brand new blueprints that this book offers for the extensive transformation of Africa s economy into the robust emerging economy that will rival its counterparts in India and China in the immediate future

The Man Who Killed Apartheid: The Life of Dimitri Tsafendas Harris Dousemetzis, 2024-03-04 On 6 September 1966 inside the House of Assembly in Cape Town Dimitri Tsafendas stabbed to death Hendrik Verwoerd South Africa's Prime Minister and so called architect of apartheid Tsafendas was immediately arrested and before he had even been questioned by the authorities they declared him a madman without any political motive for the killing In the Cape Supreme Court Tsafendas was found unfit to stand trial on the grounds that he suffered from schizophrenia and that he had no political motive for killing Verwoerd Tsafendas spent the next 28 years in custody making him the longest serving detainee in South African history For most of his incarceration he was subjected to cruel and inhumane treatment by the prison authorities From 2009 to 2018 Harris Dousemetzis extensively researched the assassination of Verwoerd and the life of Tsafendas For this research he travelled to South Africa Mozambique Greece France and Turkey and interviewed about 150 people who either knew Tsafendas or Verwoerd or were involved with the case of the assassination He discovered about 12 000 pages of documents on the case most of them previously unpublished in archival collections in South Africa Portugal and the UK Dousemetzis collaborated with prominent South African jurists psychiatrists and psychologists and concluded his research by writing the Report to the Minister of Justice in the Matter of Dr Verwoerd's Assassination The report conclusively proved that Tsafendas had assassinated Verwoerd for political reasons and that the apartheid authorities had orchestrated a massive operation to declare him insane and apolitical This ground breaking report and this book corrected the historical record regarding Verwoerd's assassination and Tsafendas The Man Who Killed Apartheid based on Dousemetzis's groundbreaking research chronicles in detail Tsafendas's life and conclusively demonstrates that he was a perfectly sane and deeply political person with a long history of political activism At the same time the book exposes the lie at the heart of apartheid's posture on the assassination of Hendrik Verwoerd and provides a rare picture of how the racist regime operated and what it was like to live and die under apartheid

State Formation After Civil War Derek M Powell, 2016-08-05 State formation after civil war offers a new model for studying the formation of the state in a national peace transition as an integrated national phenomenon Current models of peacebuilding and state building limit that possibility reproducing a fragmented selective view of this complex reality Placing too much emphasis on state building as design they place too little on understanding state formation as unplanned historical process The dominant focus on national institutions also ignores the role that cities and civic polities have played in constituting the modern state Mining ideas from many disciplines and evidence from 19 peace processes including South Africa the book argues that the starting point for building a systematic theory is to explain a distinct pattern to state formation that can be observed in practice Despite their conflicts people in fragile societies bargain terms for peaceful coexistence they make attempts to constitute the right to rule as valid state authority in circumstances prone to conflict over which they have imperfect influence not control Though the kind of institutions created will differ with context how rules for state authority are institutionalized follows a consistent basic pattern That pattern defines state formation in peace transitions as both a unified if contingent field of normative practice and an object of comparative study Where the national centric models see local government as a matter belonging to policy on decentralization for later in the reconstruction phase the book uncovers a distinct local government dimension to peace transitions A civic dimension to national conflicts that must be explained incipient or proto local authorities that emerge even during civil war in peace making after state collapse the fact that it is common for peace agreements and constitutions to include rules for local authority for local elections to be held as part of broader democratization and for laws to be enacted to establish local government as part of peace compacts The book develops the concept of local peace transition to explain the distinctive constitutive role of this local dimension in peace making and state formation This path breaking book will be of compelling interest to practitioners scholars and students of comparative constitutional studies international law peace building and state building

Manufacturing Militance G. Seidman, 1994-05-05 Challenging prevailing theories of development and labor Gay Seidman's controversial study explores how highly politicized labor movements could arise simultaneously in Brazil and South Africa two starkly different societies Beginning with the 1960s Seidman shows how both authoritarian states promoted specific rapid industrialization strategies in the process reshaping the working class and altering relationships between business and the state When economic growth slowed in the 1970s workers in these countries challenged social and political repression by the mid 1980s they had become major voices in the transition from authoritarian rule Based in factories and working class communities these movements enjoyed broad support as they fought for improved social services land reform expanding electoral participation and racial integration In Brazil Seidman takes us from the shopfloor where disenfranchized workers organized for better wages and working conditions to the strikes and protests that spread to local communities Similar demands for radical change emerged in South Africa where community groups in black townships joined organized labor in a challenge to minority rule that linked class consciousness to racial oppression Seidman details the complex dynamics of these militant movements and develops a broad analysis of how newly industrializing countries shape the opportunities for labor to express demands Her work will be welcomed by those interested in labor studies social theory and the politics of newly industrializing regions

Shades of Difference Padraig O'Malley, 2025-05-05 Mac Maharaj played a pivotal role in the liberation movement for nearly four decades suffering brutal tortures and twelve years imprisonment on Robben Island with Nelson Mandela It was Maharaj who smuggled out the manuscript of Mandela's autobiography and later re entered South Africa to establish a political and military underground on a mission so secret that only those at the highest levels were even aware of its existence Drawing from extensive interviews with Maharaj over eleven years and hitherto unavailable documents Padraig O Malley vividly renders a true tale of heroism and a gripping insider's look at the struggle for freedom in South Africa
