South Pacific Enterprise Arthur George Lowndes, 1956 Chapter 10 Sugar in New Zealand A C Isaacs The Sugar Cane Industry J. H. Galloway, 2005-11-10 This book is a geography of the sugar cane industry from its origins to 1914 It describes its spread from India into the Mediterranean during medieval times to the Americas and its subsequent diffusion to most parts of the tropics It examines the changes in agricultural and manufacturing techniques over the centuries and its impact in forming the multicultural societies of the tropical world Economic Prospects for the Pacific Islands in the 21st Century Roman Grynberg, 1996 Catalog of the South Pacific Collection University of California, Santa Cruz. University Library, 1978 Pacific Business, 1925 Cane Sugar Handbook James C. P. Chen, Chung Chi Chou, 1993-12-16 In print for over a century it is the definitive guide to cane sugar processing treatment and analysis This edition expands coverage of new developments during the past decade specialty sugars plant maintenance automation computer control systems and the latest in instrumental analysis for the sugar industry Chinese Colonial Entanglements Julia T. Martínez, Claire Lowrie, Gregor Benton, 2024-07-31 Chinese Colonial Entanglements takes a new geographical approach to understanding the Chinese diaspora shining a light on Chinese engagement in labor trade and industry in the British colonies of the southern Asia Pacific Starting from the 1880s a decade when British colonization was rapidly expanding and establishing new industries and townships this volume covers the period up to 1950 including the 1930s when economic competition saw new racialized immigration restrictions and the 1940s when Chinese traders found new opportunities The editors Julia T Mart nez Claire Lowrie and Gregor Benton bring together nine historians of Chinese diaspora in an effort to break down the boundaries of traditional area studies Collectively the chapters offer fresh comparative and transnational perspectives on economic entanglements across a region bounded by the Malay archipelago Australia New Zealand and the islands of the western Pacific Histories of white settler colonies such as Australia have tended to view Chinese diasporic experiences through the lens of exclusionary politics and closed borders This book challenges such interpretations bringing to the fore Chinese economic endeavors that connected Australia with Southeast Asia and the Pacific The volume begins with an introduction that makes the case for a regional approach to Chinese diaspora history This is followed by chapters on colonial commodity production where Chinese traders and workers were central to the development of colonial banana phosphate and furniture industries These industries reflect the diversity of Chinese roles from small business owners to indentured workers for British colonial enterprise The book then explores the economic activities of Chinese business elite from revenue farming to intercolonial trading and rural retail It points to colonial restrictions on business development and explains how Chinese enterprises sought to overcome restrictions through relationships with colonial leaders and by mobilizing Chinese family and transnational business networks in case studies from British North Borneo Australia and Samoa Relying on diverse sources including archival correspondence Chinese language newspapers personal letters and oral histories the

The Business of Empire Jason M. Colby, 2011-10-27 The link between private corporations and U S world power has a much longer history than most people realize Transnational firms such as the United Fruit Company represent an earlier stage of the economic and cultural globalization now taking place throughout the world Drawing on a wide range of archival sources in the United States Great Britain Costa Rica and Guatemala Colby combines top down and bottom up approaches to provide new insight into the role of transnational capital labor migration and racial nationalism in shaping U S expansion into Central America and the greater Caribbean The Business of Empire places corporate power and local context at the heart of U S imperial history In the early twentieth century U S influence in Central America came primarily in the form of private enterprise above all United Fruit Founded amid the U S leap into overseas empire the company initially depended upon British West Indian laborers When its black workforce resisted white American authority the firm adopted a strategy of labor division by recruiting Hispanic migrants This labor system drew the company into increased conflict with its host nations as Central American nationalists denounced not only U S military interventions in the region but also American employment of black immigrants By the 1930s just as Washington renounced military intervention in Latin America United Fruit pursued its own Good Neighbor Policy which brought a reduction in its corporate colonial power and a ban on the hiring of black immigrants The end of the company s system of labor division in turn pointed the way to the transformation of United Fruit as well as the broader U S empire Houses Far From Home Margaret Rodman Critchlow, 2001-02-01 The houses far from home featured in this book are located in Vanuatu a chain of islands between Fiji and Australia in the southwest Pacific Once known as the Anglo French Condominium of the New Hebrides the islands were jointly administered by the British and French from 1906 to 1980 In this innovative and revealing study of a unique colonial project Margaret Rodman tells the stories of these houses exploring the profound differences of perspective experience and power that domestic spaces reveal and offering a novel look at the history of British colonialism in the Pacific Each chapter has at its heart a house where readers can explore dimensions of race gender and power that domestic spaces reveal Moving across time between different islands and actors between oral memories and archival documents Margaret Rodman provides a richly documented multi sited ethnography of the social history of the New Hebrides Sugar Central and Planters News ,1957 Sweet Labour Helen Marchant, 1987 Spencer-Meade Cane Sugar Handbook George Peterkin Meade, 1963 Sugar News ,1958

Tiger Management Martin Hemmert, 2012-10-02 Throughout the last several decades Korean companies have entered the world markets in a wide range of manufacturing industries with great success How did they achieve this exceptional performance This book uncovers the secret of their performance through a comprehensive analysis of the Korean management system It explains to an international audience how it has developed why it works so well and what non Koreans can learn from it The book analyzes the management of Korean firms from three different perspectives First a historical perspective is applied by showing how Tiger Management has emerged and how it has been continuously advanced over the last 50 years The breathtaking stories of how Korean companies seemingly coming from nowhere have challenged their Western and Japanese competitors on the world markets are told Second the cornerstones of Tiger Management are analyzed from a functional viewpoint showing that the success of Korean companies rests on a smart combination of business strategy leadership and human resource management practices Finally the present and future of Tiger Management is discussed by showing how Korean companies have adapted to changes in their business environment at home and abroad and what non Korean companies can learn from their Korean rivals The book gives an up to date analysis of Korean management practices from a global perspective It identifies the success factors of Korean companies long term aggressive and persisting business planning speed flexibility strong leadership strong teamwork and high investment into human skills and capabilities It illustrates how these management practices complement each other and provides non Korean companies with signposts how they can adopt them

Social Change In The Pacific Isl Robillard, 2020-02-21 First published in 1992

The Pacific Ocean is the largest geographical feature on the face of the earth covering about one third of its entire surface Occupying part of that large expanse are the far flung islands of the Pacific As the papers of this volume clearly indicate the post world war II era and decolonization have brought unprecedented change and the Pacific is now experiencing problems that were formerly associated with other Third World nations Most Pacific countries have rapidly expanding populations and over half of all Pacific Islanders are now in their teenage years or younger Education and modern communications have served to increase aspirations and attracted by hopes of employment and the distractions of urban life islanders are gravitating to urban centers
