Southern Nilotic History Linguistic Approaches To The Study Of The Past:

Southern Nilotic History Christopher Ehret, 1971 The Historical Study of African Religion Terence O. Ranger, T. O. Ranger, Isaria N. Kimambo, 1976 Black Athena: The Afroasiatic Roots of Classical Civilization Volume III Martin Bernal, 2020-02-14 Winner of the 1990 American Book Award

What is classical about Classical civilization In one of the most audacious works of scholarship ever written Martin Bernal challenges the foundation of our thinking about this question Classical civilization he argues has deep roots in Afroasiatic cultures But these Afroasiatic influences have been systematically ignored denied or suppressed since the eighteenth century chiefly for racist reasons The popular view is that Greek civilization was the result of the conquest of a sophisticated but weak native population by vigorous Indo European speakers Aryans from the North But the Classical Greeks Bernal argues knew nothing of this Aryan model They did not see their institutions as original but as derived from the East and from Egypt in particular This long awaited third and final volume of the series is concerned with the linguistic evidence that contradicts the Aryan Model of ancient Greece Bernal shows how nearly 40 percent of the Greek vocabulary has been plausibly derived from two Afroasiatic languages Ancient Egyptian and West Semitic He also reveals how these derivations are not limited to matters of trade but extended to the sophisticated language of politics religion and philosophy This evidence according to Bernal greatly strengthens the hypothesis that in Greece an Indo European speaking population was culturally dominated by Ancient Egyptian and West Semitic speakers Provocative passionate and colossal in scope this volume caps a thoughtful rewriting of history that has been stirring academic and political controversy since the publication of the first volume Africa from the Sixteenth to the Eighteenth Century Bethwell A. Ogot, 1992 The result of years of work by scholars from all over the world The UNESCO General History of Africa reflects how the different peoples of Africa view their civilizations and shows the historical relationships between the various parts of the continent Historical connections with other continents demonstrate Africa's contribution to the development of human civilization Each volume is lavishly illustrated and contains a comprehensive bibliography This fifth volume of the acclaimed series covers the history of the continent from the beginning of the sixteenth century to the close of the eighteenth century in which two themes emerge first the continuing internal evolution of the states and cultures of Africa during this period second the increasing involvement of Africa in external trade with major but unforeseen consequences for the whole world In North Africa we see the Ottomans conquer Egypt South of the Sahara some of the larger older states collapse and new power bases emerge Traditional religions continue to coexist with both Christianity suffering setbacks and Islam in the ascendancy Along the coast particularly of West Africa Europeans establish a trading network which with the development of New World plantation agriculture becomes the focus of the international slave trade The immediate consequences of this trade for Africa are explored and it is argued that the long term global consequences include the foundation of the present world economy with all its built in inequalities Language in Africa

Edgar Gregersen, Edgar A. Gregersen, 1977 This book developed out of a survey course on African languages that Uriel Weinreich invited the author to teach at Columbia University The focus of the course changed considerably in the years that the author taught the course 1964 1968 in large part to accommodate the interests of many students without a background in linguistics but registered for the course The one thing African languages have in common setting them off from all the other languages in the world is the fact that they are spoken in Africa Human By Nature Peter Weingart, Sandra D. Mitchell, Peter J. Richerson, Sabine Maasen, 2013-06-17 Representing a wide range of disciplines biology sociology anthropology economics human ethology psychology primatology history and philosophy of science the contributors to this book recently spent a complete academic year at the Center for Interdisciplinary Research ZiF discussing a plethora of new insights in reference to human cultural evolution These scholars acted as a living experiment of interdisciplinarity in vivo The assumption of this experiment was that the scholars while working and residing at the ZiF would be united intellectually as well as socially a connection that might eventually enhance future interdisciplinary communication even after the research group had dispersed An important consensus emerged The issue of human culture poses a challenge to the division of the world into the realms of the natural and the cultural and hence to the disciplinary division of scientific labor The appropriate place for the study of human culture in this group's view is located between biology and the social sciences Explicitly avoiding biological and sociological reductionisms the group adopted a pluralistic perspective integrative pluralism that took into account both today's highly specialized and effective sub disciplinary research and the possibility of integrating the respective findings on a case by case basis Each sub group discovered its own way of interdisciplinary collaboration and submitted a contribution to the present volume reflecting one of several types of fruitful cooperation such as a fully integrated chapter a multidisciplinary overview or a discussion between different approaches A promising first step on the long road to an interdisciplinarily informed understanding of human culture this book will be of interest to social scientists and biologists alike Black Athena Martin Bernal, 2020-02-14 Winner of the 1990 American Book Award What is classical about Classical civilization In one of the most audacious works of scholarship ever written Martin Bernal challenges the foundation of our thinking about this question Classical civilization he argues has deep roots in Afroasiatic cultures But these Afroasiatic influences have been systematically ignored denied or suppressed since the eighteenth century chiefly for racist reasons The popular view is that Greek civilization was the result of the conquest of a sophisticated but weak native population by vigorous Indo European speakers Aryans from the North But the Classical Greeks Bernal argues knew nothing of this Aryan model They did not see their institutions as original but as derived from the East and from Egypt in particular This long awaited third and final volume of the series is concerned with the linguistic evidence that contradicts the Aryan Model of ancient Greece Bernal shows how nearly 40 percent of the Greek vocabulary has been plausibly derived from two Afroasiatic languages Ancient Egyptian and West Semitic He also reveals how these derivations are not limited to matters of trade but extended to the sophisticated language of politics religion and philosophy This evidence according to Bernal greatly strengthens the hypothesis that in Greece an Indo European speaking population was culturally dominated by Ancient Egyptian and West Semitic speakers Provocative passionate and colossal in scope this volume caps a thoughtful rewriting of history that has been stirring academic and political controversy since the publication of the first volume Rethinking Anthropological Perspectives on Migration Graciela S. Cabana,Jeffery J. Clark,2020-03-17 Rethinking Anthropological Perspectives on Migration brings together these new methods in one volume and addresses innovative approaches to migration research that emerge from the collective effort of scholars from different intellectual backgrounds Its contributors present a comprehensive anthropological exploration of the many topics related to human migration throughout the world ranging from theoretical treatments to specific case studies derived primarily from the Americas prior to European contact
