Southern Writers In The Modern World:

Southern Writers in the Modern World Donald Davidson,2010-11-01 One of the most important of the Southern magazines in the 1920s was The Fugitive a magazine of verse and brief commentaries on literature in general Among its contributors were John Crowe Ransom Allen Tate Robert Penn Warren Donald Davidson and Merrill Moore Publication began in April 1922 and ended in December 1925 Soon thereafter the Fugitive writers and some others became profoundly concerned with the materialism of American life and its effect upon the South The group became known as Agrarians Their thinking and discussion culminated in a symposium I'll Take My Stand published in 1930 In his first two lectures Davidson describes the underlying nature and aims of the Fugitive and Agrarian movements He brings to the discussion his intimate and thorough knowledge of Southern life and letters The third lecture deals with the place of the writer in the modern university posing the questions of whether the writer needs the university and whether the university needs or wants the writer

Perkins, 2021-12-14 Since the end of World War II the South has experienced a greater awareness of growth and of its accompanying tensions than other regions of the United States The rapid change that climaxed with the war in Vietnam the Cold War civil rights demonstrations and Watergate has forced the traditional South to come to terms with social upheaval As the essays collected in Southern Writers at Century's End point out southern writing since 1975 reflects the confusion and violence that have characterized late twentieth century public culture These essays consider the work of twenty one of the foremost southern writers whose most important fiction has appeared in the last quarter of this century As the region's contemporary writers have begun to gain a wide audience critics have begun to distinguish what Hugh Holman has called the fresh the vital and the new in southern literary culture Southern Writers at Century's End is the first volume to take an extensive look at the current generation of southern writers Authors considered include James Lee Burke Fred Chappell Robert Drake Andre Dubus Clyde Edgerton Richard Ford Kaye Gibbons John Grisham Barry Hannah Mary Hood Josephine Humphreys Randall Kenan Richard Marius Bobbie Ann Mason Cormac McCarthy Tim McLaurin T R Pearson Lee Smith Anne Tyler Alice Walker and James Wilcox The Roots of Southern Writing C. Hugh Holman, 2008 At the heart of the southern riddle you will find a union of opposites a condition of instability a paradox Calm grace and raw hatred Polished manners and violence An intense individualism and intense group pressures toward conformity A reverence to the point of idolatry of self determining action and a caste and class structure presupposing an aristocratic hierarchy A passion for political action and a willingness to surrender to the enslavement of demagogues A love of the nation intense enough to make the South's fighting men notorious in our wars and the advocacy of interposition and of the public defiance of national law A region breeding both Thomas Jefferson and John C Calhoun If these contradictions are to be brought in focus if these ambiguities are to be resolved it must be through the reconciliation of opposites And the reconciliation of opposites as Coleridge has told us is the function of the poet So begins the first of these seventeen penetrating essays drawn from long and fruitful reflection of southern life and art by C Hugh Holman Professor Holman maintains that there is a congeries of characteristics identifiably present in much southern writing and he astutely defines them in this collection William Gilmore Simms Ellen Glasgow Thomas Wolfe William Faulkner and Flannery O'Connor are treated at length Among the other authors considered in terms of their roles in the making of the southern mind are James Branch Cabell T S Stripling Erskine Caldwell and Robert Penn Warren The essays strike a fine balance between general overview and specific analysis and they are so arranged as to make a unified study which forms a significant chapter in the intellectual history of the South Professor Holman asserts that out of the cauldron of the South's experience the southern writer has fashioned tragic grandeur and given it as a gift to his fellow Americans It is possible that no other southern accomplishment will equal it in enduring importance As urbanization and industrialism conspire to write an Epitaph
