Social Dynamics Of Adolescent Fertility In Sub Saharan Africa:

Social Dynamics of Adolescent Fertility in Sub-Saharan Africa National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Working Group on the Social Dynamics of Adolescent Fertility, 1993-02-01 This examination of changes in adolescent fertility emphasizes the changing social context within which adolescent childbearing takes place Social Dynamics of Adolescent Fertility in Sub-Saharan Africa Caroline H. Bledsoe, Barney Cohen, 1993-01-15 Adolescent fertility tends to be valued and sanctioned in the countries of sub Saharan Africa when parents have had adequate ritual or training preparation for adulthood and the child has a recognized father Young women and adolescents who conceive and bear children within this context are widely accepted by society those who conceive outside of marriage however are strongly condemned by society Over the past 2 3 decades most African countries have successfully raised their levels of education Girls and women are increasingly privy to formal school education and training in trade apprenticeships domestic service and ritual initiation which had otherwise been denied in the past These factors combined with declining menarche in a few areas and changing economic opportunities law and religion make it more difficult to define the exact date of entry into marriage Many girls are taking advantage of these changing circumstances and their opportunities to obtain educations and resist early marriage and childbearing While defying the traditional entry into early marriage many young women do not however refrain from engaging in sexual activities Pregnancies to unwed mothers are thereby on the rise and may constitute the most profound change observed in the social context of adolescent fertility on the continent Once pregnant many women find themselves shut out by family planning programs and prenatal clinics which serve only married women This paper ultimately concludes that the social context of adolescent childbearing has an effect on the outcome for mother and child which is as important as the physiological maturity of the mother Fertility, Mortality and Migration in Sub-Saharan Africa V. Notkola, H. Siiskonen, 2016-06-08 In north Namibia the availability of continuous series of parish record data since the 1920s offer excellent possibilities to study population development on a regional level by primary sources In this study fertility mortality and internal migration in north Namibia among the Christian population since the mid 1920s to the 1990s is analyzed Factors Affecting Contraceptive Use in Sub-Saharan Africa National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Working Group on Factors Affecting Contraceptive Use, 1993-02-01 This book discusses current trends in contraceptive use socioeconomic and program variables that affect the demand for and supply of children and the relationship of increased contraceptive use to recent fertility declines Trends in Adolescent Fertility and Contraceptive Use in the Developing World Thomas M. MacDevitt, Arjun Adlakha, Timothy B. Fowler, Vera Harris-Bourne, 1996 Family Demography and Post-2015 Development Agenda in Africa Clifford O. Odimegwu, 2019-08-27 This book is a comprehensive analysis of the structure determinants and consequences of changes in sub Saharan African families thereby representing an Afrocentric description of the emerging trends It documents various themes in the sub disciplines of family demography The first section of the book focuses on philosophical understanding of African family its theoretical perspectives and comparative analysis of family in the 20th and 21st centuries The second section covers family formation union dissolution emerging trend in single parenthood and adolescents in the family The following section describes types determinants and consequences of African family changes health childbearing youth development teen pregnancy and family violence and the last chapter provides systematic evidence on existing laws and policies governing African family structure and dynamics As such it illustrates the importance of family demography in African demographic discourse and will be an interesting read to scholars and students in the field of demography social workers policy makers departments of Social Development in countries in Africa and relevant international agencies and all those interested in understanding the African family trajectory

Youth, HIV/AIDS and Social Transformations in Africa

Donald Anthony Mwiturubani, 2009. The Council for the Development of Social Science Research in Africa CODESRIA is an organisation whose principal objectives are to facilitate research, promote research-based publishing and create multiple forums geared towards the exchange of views and information among African researchers. All these are aimed at reducing the fragmentation of research in the continent through the creation of thematic research networks that cut across linguistic and regional boundaries. Book Jacket.

International Public Health: Diseases, Programs, Systems and Policies

Michael Merson, Robert E. Black, Anne Mills, 2006. In this text for graduate students in various disciplines who are studying international public health, the author focuses on conditions in low and middle income countries, occasionally making reference to high income countries. He suggests approaches for fostering public health and discusses future challenges for health promotion and disease prevention around the world. The text can also be used as a reference by those working in government agencies, international health and development agencies and NGOs.

Fertility, Conjuncture, Difference

Philip Kreager, Astrid Bochow, 2017-09-01. In the last forty years, anthropologists have made major contributions to understanding the heterogeneity of reproductive trends and processes underlying them. Fertility transition, rather than the story of the triumphant spread of Western birth control, rationality reveals a diversity of reproductive means and ends, continuing before, during and after transition. This collection brings together anthropological case studies, placing them in a comparative framework of compositional demography and conjunctural action. The volume addresses major issues of inequality and distribution which shape population and social structures and in which fertility trends and the formation and size of families are not decided solely or primarily by reproduction.

Contingent Lives

Caroline H. Bledsoe, 2010-11-15. Most women in the West use contraceptives in order to avoid having children. But in rural Gambia and other parts of sub-Saharan Africa, many women use contraceptives for the opposite reason: to have as many children as possible. Using ethnographic and demographic data from a three-year study in rural Gambia, Contingent Lives explains this seemingly counterintuitive fact by juxtaposing two very different understandings of the life course. One is a linear Western model that equates aging and the ability to reproduce with the passage of time; the other is a Gambian model that views aging as contingent on the cumulative physical, social and spiritual hardships of personal history, especially obstetric trauma. Viewing each of these two models from the perspective of the other, Caroline Bledsoe produces fresh understandings of the classical anthropological subjects of reproduction, time and aging as culturally shaped within women's conjugal lives. Her insights will be welcomed by scholars of anthropology and demography as well as by those working in public health development studies.

gerontology and the history of medicine The Demography of South Africa , In nine essays originating from the running Miami International Relations Group seminar the editors and contributors introduce constructivism as an alternative to studying IR from a historical and systems analytical framework They advance constructivism in the context of the perennial agent structure debate discuss international relations under social construction as in national identity feminist struggle and global Internet governance and reconstructing the discipline Paper edition unseen 22 95 Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Wasted Wombs Erica van der Sijpt,2018-03-27 Central to this book are Gbigbil women s experiences with different reproductive interruptions miscarriages stillbirths child deaths induced abortions and infertility Rather than consider these events as inherently dissimilar as women do in Western countries the Gbigbil women of eastern Cameroon see them all as instances of wasted wombs that leave their reproductive trajectories hanging in the balance The women must navigate this uncertainty while negotiating their social positions aspirations for the future and the current workings of their bodies Providing an intimate look into these processes Wasted Wombs shows how Gbigbil women constantly shift their interpretations of when a pregnancy starts what it contains and what is lost in case of a reproductive interruption in contrast to Western conceptions of fertility and loss Depending on the context and on their life aspirations be it marriage and motherhood or an educational trajectory and employment or profitable sexual affairs with so called big fish women negotiate and manipulate the meanings and effects of reproductive interruptions Paradoxically they often do so while portraying themselves as powerless Wasted Wombs carefully analyzes such tactics in relation to the various social predicaments that emerge around reproductive interruptions as well as the capricious workings of women s physical bodies

Africa After Gender? Catherine M. Cole,Takiwaa Manuh,Stephan Miescher,2007-02-07 Africa After Gender looks at Africa now that gender has come into play to consider how the continent its people and the term itself have changed Leading Africanist historians anthropologists literary critics and political scientists move past simple dichotomies entrenched debates and polarizing identity politics to present an evolving discourse of gender Trends in Adolescent Fertility and Contraceptive Use in the Developing World Thomas M. McDevitt, Arjun Adlakha, Vera Harris-Bourne, Timothy B. Fowler, 1996 In Her Lifetime Institute of Medicine, Committee to Study Female Morbidity and Mortality in Sub-Saharan Africa, 1996-04-06 The relative lack of information on determinants of disease disability and death at major stages of a woman's lifespan and the excess morbidity and premature mortality that this engenders has important adverse social and economic ramifications not only for Sub-Saharan Africa but also for other regions of the world as well Women bear much of the weight of world production in both traditional and modern industries In Sub-Saharan Africa for example women contribute approximately 60 to 80 percent of agricultural labor Worldwide it is estimated that women are the sole supporters in 18 to 30 percent of all families and that their financial contribution in the remainder of families is substantial and often crucial This book provides a solid documentary base that can be used to develop an agenda to guide research and health policy formulation on female health both for Sub-Saharan Africa and for other regions of the developing world This book could also help facilitate ongoing collaboration between African researchers on women's health and their U.S. colleagues Chapters cover such topics as demographics nutritional status obstetric morbidity and mortality mental health problems and sexually transmitted diseases including HIV Demography of Aging National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on Population, 1994-02-01 As the United States and the rest of the world face the unprecedented challenge of aging populations this volume draws together for the first time state of the art work from the emerging field of the demography of aging The nine chapters written by experts from a variety of disciplines highlight data sources and research approaches results and proposed strategies on a topic with major policy implications for labor forces economic well being health care and the need for social and family supports
