Problematizing Local Indigenous Community Research
Allucia L. Shokane, Kelly J. Gross, 2021-12-30 This book deliberates on developments related to Knowledge Pathing Multi Inter and Trans Disciplining in Social Sciences The book explores the value of this vexed concept in advancing the course for multi inter and trans disciplinary perspectives methodologies theories and epistemologies of knowledge pathing The discourse on knowledge pathing remains critical in advancing debates and dialogues in the humanities and social sciences spaces of research and studies This book makes a significant contribution to the scholarly understanding of indigenous knowledge research by focusing on problematising local indigenous community research from Afro sensed perspectives The field of indigenous knowledge research and higher education in Africa is complex Yet across the continent higher education has been the sector to least embrace Indigenous Knowledge Systems IKS or regard indigenous science as a legitimate source of inspiration for the development of youth and local communities Higher education institutions and local indigenous communities should thus generate knowledge and power through research. On the other hand, higher education researchers should use their research processes and skills for cross-beneficiation when engaging local indigenous communities. This book embodies the current discourse on decolonisation and the use of indigenous knowledge in research and is intended for research specialists in the field of indigenous knowledge systems.

Social Work Theory and Practice with the Terminally Ill Joan K. Parry, 2014-04-08. Social Work Theory and Practice with the Terminally Ill second edition takes a compassionate look at ways that social workers can help dying people and their families. The social workers who work most effectively with terminally ill patients and their families are the ones who best understand the multifaceted nature of the dying process and its impact on the patient, the family, and even on the health care professionals who work with patients at the end of life. Dr. Parry, who specializes in dying and bereavement, offers astute observations on the stages of dealing with the diagnosis of a terminal illness and the impending death that patients and their families confront. This updated second edition provides valuable new information on ways that social workers can help those with AIDS and their families on traumatic death from any cause and on the grieving processes of parents. Social Work Theory and Practice with the Terminally Ill second edition also includes stimulating discussions on the interdisciplinary health team, the grieving process, professional burnout, how social workers adapt to working with dying patients, euthanasia, and physician-assisted dying, living wills, and patients' rights. In touching case studies, this volume illustrates the particular needs and concerns of the terminally ill and their families: impending losses, financial worries, job concerns, pain, unfinished business, and spiritual needs, and reviews successful interventions used by social workers to help patients and their families work through the dying process.
