Education and Social Mobility P.T. Thomas, This book focuses on the provision of basic social services in particular access to education as the central building blocks of any human development strategy and it also signifies a substantial contribution towards the central role of education in social mobility In examining the impact of educational development of any society or group the questions that the proponents of egalitarian approach ask are Who benefits Who loses What is the resulting socio economic status of the people Although gender inequality in education is not so prominent in Kerala the difference between communities and classes is one of the critical aspects of this broader phenomenon of disparity in Kerala Recent studies regarding poverty and inequality show that although poverty is declining inequality between socio economic groups is increasing in Kerala In this scenario the educational backwardness of the socio economic groups in Kerala is a matter of particular concern to the policy makers and this book hopes to provide some insight into this subject It will be highly useful to policy makers administrators and academicians Beginning Theory Peter Barry, 1995 Though poets have always written about cities the commonest critical categories pastoral poetry nature poetry Romantic poetry Georgian poetry etc have usually stressed the rural so that poetry can seem irrelevant to a predominantly urban populati Explores a range of contemporary poets who visit the mean streets of the contemporary urban scene seeking the often cacophonous music of what happens here Poets discussed include Ken Smith Iain Sinclair Roy Fisher Edwin Morgan Sean O'Brien Ciaran Carson Peter Reading Matt Simpson Douglas Houston Deryn Rees Jones Denise Riley Ken Edwards Levi Tafari Aidan Hun and Robert Hampson Approaches contemporary poetry within a broad spectrum of personal social literary and cultural concerns Includes loco specific chapters on cities including Hull Liverpool London and Birmingham with an additional chapter on post industrial cities such as Belfast Glasgow and Dundee Selected Readings in Economics Charles Jesse Bullock, 1907

Selected Readings in Municipal Problems Joseph Wright, 1925 The Anthem Companion to Raymond Boudon Christian Robitaille, Robert Leroux, 2024-06-04 This book seeks to identify the main threads of a resolutely complex course of thought which has contributed greatly to sociology Although he founded no school Raymond Boudon certainly made original contributions to the discipline in his own time including his theory of rationality his interpretation of the work of the founders of sociology and his explanation of educational inequalities He also presented convincing arguments about how the overly narrow utilitarianism of mainstream economists was incomplete and betrayed major theoretical gaps It is true in any case that his thought laid the groundwork for many theoretical and empirical social studies Through an analysis of the most important parts of this thought each of the chapters will not merely demonstrate the scientific rigor which can be associated to his work but also show how it remains relevant to our understanding of contemporary society and how it can hence be used for future research projects There can be no doubt Boudon s thought has for various reasons undergone new assessments Chapters of this book hence reflect a variety of points of view on how his work can be understood criticized and used for future research endeavors Selected Writings: Economic and methodological thought Barbara Wootton,1992

Realism and Complexity in Social Science Malcolm Williams,2020-12-30 Realism and Complexity in Social Science is an argument for a new approach to investigating the social world that of complex realism Complex realism brings together a number of strands of thought in scientific realism complexity science probability theory and social research methodology It proposes that the reality of the social world is that it is probabilistic yet there exists enough invariance to make the discovery and explanation of social objects and causal mechanisms possible This forms the basis for the development of a complex realist foundation for social research that utilises a number of new and novel approaches to investigation alongside the more traditional corpus of quantitative and qualitative methods Research examples are drawn from research in sociology epidemiology criminology social policy and human geography The book assumes no prior knowledge of realism probability or complexity and in the early chapters the reader is introduced to these concepts and the arguments against them Although the book is grounded in philosophical reasoning this is in a direct and accessible style that will appeal both to social researchers with a methodological interest and philosophers with an interest in social investigation

The Crisis of the Meritocracy Peter Mandler, 2020-09-11 Before the Second World War only about 20% of the population went to secondary school and barely 2% to university today everyone goes to secondary school and half of all young people go to university How did we get here from there The Crisis of the Meritocracy answers this question not by looking to politicians and educational reforms but to the revolution in attitudes and expectations amongst the post war British public the rights guaranteed by the welfare state the hope of a better life for one's children widespread upward mobility from manual to non manual occupations confidence in the importance of education in a learning society and a knowledge economy As a result of these transformations meritocracy the idea that a few should be selected to succeed has been challenged by democracy and its wider understandings of equal opportunity across the life course At a time when doubts have arisen about whether we need so many students and amidst calls for a return to grammar school selection at 11 the tension between meritocracy and democracy remains vital to understanding why our grandparents our parents ourselves and our children have sought and got more and more education and to what end
