The editors of Professional Social Work Education and Health Care present information that looks to the future in order to open the floor for communication among the leaders in health care social work settings. In doing so, they give you valuable information about important issues such as changes in social work department structure and function in challenging economic times, collaborative efforts and reciprocal relationships in education and training, emergence of networks that will join forces with hospitals, preparation for short-term solution-based social work, the remaining need for traditional long-term social work frameworks and values, the shift in ideology to viewing clients as consumers rather than patients, modification of curriculum to focus on parenting, health education, adolescent pregnancy prevention, and wellness programs, emergence of a model for post-master's education, field work in community-based health care placements versus inpatient hospital settings. This book's model for making education and practice responsive to each other and for responding to the needs for collaboration makes it a valuable resource for social work educators, practitioners, and clinicians in health and mental health, advanced gerontologists in academic and practice agencies, and teachers of policy and research in health concentrations in schools of social work.
