Davis takes rich material dramatic enough to have been the basis of two major films and uses it to explore issues of identity women's role in peasant society the interior lives of the poor and the structure of village society all of them topics that had previously proved difficult for historians to grapple with Davis displays fine qualities of reasoning throughout not only in constructing her own narrative but also in persuading her readers of her point of view Her work is also a fine example of good interpretation practically every document in the case needs to be assessed for issues of meaning
