Khairudin Aljunied, 2009 Over the past two decades Singapore has advanced rapidly towards becoming a both a global city state and a key nodal point in the international economic sphere These developments have caused us to reassess how we understand this changing nation including its history population and geography as well as its transregional and transnational experiences with the external world This collection spans several disciplines in the humanities and social sciences and draws on various theoretical approaches and methodologies in order to produce a more refined understanding of Singapore and to reconceptualize the challenges faced by the country and its peoples      King's Chinese, The: From Barber To Banker, The Story Of Yeap Chor Ee And The Straits Chinese Daryl Yeap, 2023-10-10 An informative and well researched book The King's Chinese provides a superb account of the Straits British Chinese a distinct migrant society from various districts of South China in the late 19th Century Daryl Yeap gives us a fascinating story of this hybrid community taking us on tour through one man's journey beginning with how he left a war ravaged China to Penang where he started life as an illiterate itinerant barber to becoming one of the most successful bankers in South East Asia As she takes us through his story Daryl brilliantly captures its unique society and wonderful mix of cultures explaining how Penang was once considered the Cinderella of the East what the earliest forms of passports were how a coconut scraper so novel was confused as one musical instrument by the British eye and exactly how a borrower's credit profile was assessed with just one glance of the face A highly readable book with plenty of witty anecdotes and compelling analysis it is undoubtedly a book that sheds light on a significant development in Malaysia's history      Liverpool China Traders Christina Baird, 2007 Perhaps the most enduring image of the China Trade is the clipper ship carrying tea from China In 1869 the clippers were finally overshadowed by the introduction of steam vessels which could make passage through the Suez Canal significantly shortening the length of the voyage Letters journals and order books have survived which tell us about the traders their private trading activities motivation tastes and private lives This book examines the role played by the port of Liverpool in this time of great change The book examines Liverpool's early participation in the China Trade following the cessation of the British East India Company's monopoly of the trade in 1834 and maps the changes in artistic tastes that the commencement of free trade gave rise to. These new tastes represented a true fusion of European and Chinese cultural influences and replaced the pastiche of The Orient that chinoiserie represented during the period of the monopoly. Amazon.com      Rumah Baba Peter Lee, Jennifer Chen, 1998      Reconstructing Identities Jürgen Rudolph, 1998. The aim of this text is to provide a social history of the Babas in Singapore. It describes and analyzes social, political, and cultural aspects of their identities by taking into account the conceptual history of Baba designations from 1819–1994. It argues that defining the Babas is misleading; it is more meaningful to adopt a socio-historical approach that differentiates spatiotemporally distinct Baba identities. Such an approach is usually avoided not only in research on the Babas but in many other sociological, anthropological, or historical studies. It concludes that there is no such thing as a Baba identity; it has always been in flux and needs to be reconstructed, taking seriously the conceptual history. The two crucial turning points in the history of the Babas, namely the Japanese occupation (1942–1945) and self-rule (1959), led to public emphasis on their culture. Prior emphasis on their former status as a political and economic elite has been hitherto neglected. Taking into account all aspects—legal, political, economic, cultural, linguistic, religious—of Baba identities leads us to a fascinating trajectory of a potential group.
