Hollowed Ground Larry D. Lankton, 2010 Details a century and a half of copper mining along Upper Michigan's Keweenaw Peninsula from the arrival of the first incorporated mines in the 1840s until the closing of the last mine in the mid 1990s In Hollowed Ground author Larry Lankton tells the story of two copper industries on Lake Superior native copper mining which produced about 11 billion pounds of the metal from the 1840s until the late 1960s and copper sulfide mining which began in the 1950s and produced another 4.4 billion pounds of copper through the 1990s In addition to documenting companies and their mines mills and smelters Hollowed Ground is also a community study It examines the region's population and ethnic mix which was a direct result of the mining industry and the companies paternalistic involvement in community building While this book covers the history of the entire Lake Superior mining industry it particularly focuses on the three biggest most important and longest lived companies Calumet Hecla Copper Range and Quincy Lankton shows the extent of the companies influence over their mining locations as they constructed the houses and neighborhoods of their company towns set the course of local schools saw that churches got land to build on encouraged the growth of commercial villages on the margin of a mine and even provided pasturage for workers milk cows and space for vegetable gardens Lankton also traces the interconnected fortunes of the mining communities and their companies through times of bustling economic growth and periods of decline and closure Hollowed Ground presents a wealth of images from Upper Michigan's mining towns reflecting a century and a half of unique community and industrial history Local historians industrial historians and anyone interested in the history of Michigan's Upper Peninsula will appreciate this informative volume Right in Michigan's Grassroots JoEllen McNergney Vinyard, 2011-06-07 An unsettling look at the history of right wing political movements in Michigan To the Copper Country Barbara Carney-Coston, 2017-09-11 A young Croatian girl travels to America hoping to heal her father in 1880s northern Michigan In 1886 eleven year old Mihaela embarks on a journey from Croatia to the Keweenaw Peninsula also known as Michigan's Copper Country Mihaela's papa had made the trip two years beforehand in order to work in the copper mines so that he could send money back home but a painful eye disease has left him vulnerable in a new land and in need of the skills of his wife an expert healer And so Mihaela her mother and two younger brothers leave their family farm in Croatia for what they assume will be a brief visit to America only to find themselves faced with a great many challenges and a stay that will not be temporary after all To the Copper Country Mihaela's Journey is based on the family history of author Barbara Carney Coston Her ancestors made the voyage from Croatia to Michigan in the late nineteenth century a time when many different groups were immigrating to the United States in search of a new life and better opportunities for their families A common thread runs throughout the accounts of most immigrants in terms of sacrifice assimilation and cultural contribution to a growing America But Mihaela's story is unique in that her exploration of this new land is critical to her father's survival Through extensive primary source materials family interviews and correspondence Carney Coston introduces readers to an exceptional narrative of the immigrant experience Complete with a pronunciation guide family recipes and a bibliography To the Copper Country aims to highlight a lesser known ethnic group that made up part of the great migration of the late 1800s while also identifying parallels between today's immigrant experiences and those of the past This book is suitable for young readers and would be an excellent tool for teaching empathy and Michigan history in the classroom
