Mao and the Sino-Soviet Split, 1959-1973 Danhui Li,Yafeng Xia,2018-09-15 In the twenty first century students of Cold War history are fortunate to have the fruits of several major works on the Sino Soviet split by European and American scholars What is lacking in English literature however is a book based on international documentation especially Chinese archival documents that tell the story from the Chinese perspective Based on archival materials from several countries particularly China and more than twenty years of research on the subject two prominent Chinese historians Danhui Li and Yafeng Xia offer a comprehensive look at the Sino Soviet split from 1959 when visible cracks appeared in the Sino Soviet alliance to 1973 when China s foreign policy changed from an alliance with the Soviet Union to oppose the United States to aligning with the United States to oppose the Soviet Union Mao and the Sino Soviet Split 1959 1973 A New History is a reevaluation of the history of the Sino Soviet split and offers the first comprehensive account of it from a Chinese perspective This book together with its prequel Mao and the Sino Soviet Partnership 1945 1959 A New History is important because any changes in Sino Soviet relations at the time affected and to a great extent determined the fate of the socialist bloc More importantly it directly impacted and transformed the international political situation during the Cold War These two books promise to be a reevaluation of the history of the Sino Soviet alliance from its birth to its demise These fascinating books will be a crucial resource for all those interested in the topic and will stand as the definitive work on the Sino Soviet alliance for years to come China's Quest John W. Garver,2015-12-01 From its founding 65 years ago the People s Republic of China has evolved from an important yet chaotic and impoverished state whose power was more latent than real into a great power on the cusp of possessing the largest economy in the world Its path from the 1949 revolution to the present has been filled with twists and turns including internal upheavals a dramatic break with the Soviet Union the 1989 revolution wave and various wars and quasi wars against India the USSR Vietnam and South Korea Throughout it all international pressures have been omnipresent forcing the regime to periodically shift course In short the evolution of the PROC in world politics is an epic story and one of the most important developments in modern world history Yet to date there has been no authoritative history of China's foreign relations John Garver's monumental China's Quest not only addresses this gap it will almost certainly serve as the definitive work on the topic for years to come Garver one of the world's leading scholars of Chinese foreign policy covers a vast amount of ground and threads a core argument through the entirety of his account domestic political concerns regime survival in particular have been the primary force driving the People's Republic's foreign policy agenda The objective of communist regime survival he argues transcends the more rudimentary pursuit of national interests that realists focus on Indeed from 1949 onward domestic politics has been integral to the PROC's foreign policy choices Over the decades the regime's decisions in the realm of international politics have been dictated concerns about internal stability In the early days of the regime Mao and other part leaders were concerned with surviving in the face of American aggression Later they came to see the post Stalinist Soviet model as a threat to their revolutionary program and initiated a stunning break with Khrushchev regime Finally the collapse of other communist regimes in and after 1989 radically altered their relationships with capitalist powers and again preserving regime stability in a world where communism has been largely abandoned became paramount China's Quest the result of over a decade of research writing and analysis is both sweeping in breadth and encyclopedic in detail Quite simply it will be essential for any student or scholar with a strong interest in China's foreign policy

Toward a New Framework for Peaceful Settlement of China's Territorial and Boundary Disputes Junwu Pan, 2009 As China becomes more integrated in global economic and political systems it has become inevitable that it engages fully and actively in the international legal system Notably missing in China's international engagement is its participation in international institutions on third party settlement of disputes including territorial and boundary disputes This work argues that contrary to conventional understanding much could be gained by China if it were to have a more positive attitude towards third party settlement of its territorial and boundary disputes This volume examines both the problems and opportunities China is confronting within the changing international context and offers new frameworks for settlement of China's major territorial and boundary disputes

Mongolia in the Twentieth Century Stephen Kotkin, Bruce Allen Elleman, 2015-02-12 The remote vastness of Mongolia has remained somewhat of a mystery to most Westerners no less so in the 20th century Homeland of the legendary conqueror Chingiz Khan in modern times Mongolia itself has been the object of imperial rivalry For most of the 20th century it was under Soviet domination Mikhail Gorbachev began the withdrawal of Soviet troops from Mongolia in 1989 a process completed in 1992 By 1996 a coalition of opposition parties triumphed in national elections and Mongolia launched itself on a new course It is perhaps the most intriguing of the post community transition societies This volume examines Mongol history over the past century embracing not only Mongolia proper but also Mongol communities in Russia and China Contributions based on new archival research and the latest fieldwork are from the world's top experts in the field including four authors from Mongolia and others from Japan Russia Taiwan Great Britain and the United States Stephen Kotkin's introductory chapter is an overview of Mongol studies The essays in part 1 examine Sino Russian competition over Outer Mongolia Part 2 looks at international diplomacy in Mongolia including the role of Japan Part 3 focuses on contemporary issues ranging from economic and cultural change to emergent elites A concluding essay surveys Mongolian foreign policy

A Short History of Sino-Soviet Relations, 1917-1991 Zhihua Shen, 2019-10-31 Drawing on the rich trove of recently declassified Russian and Chinese archival materials this history of Sino Soviet relations in the 20th century sheds new light on key events during this period It offers fresh insights into the role of ideology and national interests in the evolution of the complex and turbulent relationship between not just the two countries but also their respective Communist Parties The chapters on the normalization of bilateral ties provide an in depth analysis of divisions in the socialist camp that culminated in both its collapse and the disintegration of the Soviet Union The book argues that 20th century Sino Soviet relations reflected both long standing and emerging political and geopolitical challenges facing members of the Cold War socialist camp in particular tensions between the ideal of internationalism and national aspirations between commitment to the principle of sovereignty and commitment to that of equality in international relations and between inter party relations and inter state relations This makes for a valuable addition to the reading lists of all those interested in the development of the relationship between two of the world's most important countries

Enduring Territorial Disputes Krista E. Wiegand, 2011-09-01 Of all the issues in international relations disputes over territory are the most salient and most likely to lead to armed conflict Understanding their endurance is of paramount importance Although many states have settled their disagreements over territory seventy one disputes involving nearly 40 percent of all sovereign states remain unresolved In this study Krista E Wiegand examines why some states are willing and able to settle territorial disputes while others are not She argues that states may purposely maintain disputes over territory in order to use them as bargaining leverage in negotiations over other important unresolved issues This dual strategy of issue linkage and coercive diplomacy allows the challenger state to benefit from its territorial claim Under such conditions it has strong incentive to pursue diplomatic and militarized threats and very little incentive to settle the dispute over territory Wiegand tests her theory in four case studies three representing the major types of territorial disputes uninhabited islands and territorial waters as seen in tensions between China and Japan over the Senkaku and Diaoyu Islands inhabited tracts of territory such as the North African enclaves of Ceuta and Melilla affecting Morocco and Spain and border areas like the Shebaa Farms dispute between Lebanon and Israel A fourth case study of a dispute between China and Russia represents a combination of all three types settled in 2008 it serves as a negative example All these disputes involve areas that have key strategic and economic importance both regionally and globally The Soviet Union and Communist China 1945-1950: The Arduous Road to the Alliance Dieter Heinzig, 2015-06-18 Drawing on a wealth of new sources this work documents the evolving relationship between Moscow and Peking in the twentieth century Using newly available Russian and Chinese archival documents memoirs written in the 1980s and 1990s and interviews with high ranking Soviet and Chinese eyewitnesses the book provides the basis for a new interpretation of this relationship and a glimpse of previously unknown events that shaped the Sino Soviet alliance An appendix contains translated Chinese and Soviet documents many of which are being published for the first time The book focuses mainly on Communist China's relationship with Moscow after the conclusion of the treaty between the Soviet Union and Kuomintang China in 1945 up until the signing of the treaty between Moscow and the Chinese Communist Party in 1950 It also looks at China's relationship with Moscow from 1920 to 1945 as well as developments from 1950 to the present The author reevaluates existing sources and literature on the topic and demonstrates that the alliance was reached despite disagreements and distrust on both sides and was not an inevitable conclusion He also shows that the relationship between the two Communist parties was based on national interest politics and not on similar ideological convictions Modern Chinese Warfare, 1795-1989 Bruce A. Elleman, 2005-07-28 Why did the Chinese empire collapse and why did it take so long for a new government to reunite China Modern Chinese Warfare 1795 1989 seeks to answer these questions by exploring the most important domestic and international conflicts over the past two hundred years from the last half of the Qing empire through to modern day China It reveals how most of China's wars during this period were fought to preserve unity in China and examines their distinctly cyclical pattern of imperial decline domestic chaos and finally the creation of a new unifying dynasty By 1989 this cycle appeared complete but the author asks how long this government will be able to hold power Exposing China as an imperialist country and one which has often manipulated western powers in its favour Bruce Elleman seeks to redress the views of China as a victimised nation
