Modern Realism in English-Canadian Fiction Colin Hill, 2012-05-07 Much of the scholarship on twentieth century Canadian literature has argued that English Canadian fiction was plagued by backwardness and an inability to engage fully with the movement of modernism that was so prevalent in British and American fiction and poetry Modern Realism in English Canadian Fiction re evaluates Canadian literary culture to posit that it has been misunderstood because it is a distinct genre a regional form of the larger international modernist movement Examining literary magazines manifestos archival documents and major writers such as Frederick Philip Grove Morley Callaghan and Raymond Knister Colin Hill identifies a modern realism that crosses regions as well as urban and rural divides A bold reading of the modern realist aesthetic and an articulate challenge to several enduring and limiting myths about Canadian writing Modern Realism in English Canadian Fiction will stimulate important debate in literary circles everywhere Encyclopedia of Post-Colonial Literatures in English Eugene Benson, 2004-11-30 Documents the history and development of Post colonial literatures in English together with English and American literature and includes original research relating to the literatures of some 50 countries and territories In more than 1 600 entries written by more than 600 internationally recognized scholars it explores the effect of the colonial and post colonial experience on literatures in English worldwide Anglo-American Awareness Gisela Hermann-Brennecke, Wolf Kindermann, 2005 This volume presents an Anglo American research matrix radiating in various directions and transcending traditional academic boundaries and modes of perception It offers a diverse and multi faceted approach covering topics from freemasonry to the documentaries of Michael Moore from the Scottish best seller Trainspotting to German American literature in the US from anarchical traces in British novels to the influence of Laurence Sterne on Philipp Emanuel Bach from postcolonial fiction to intercultural awareness from Canadian literary beginnings to Casablanca Revisited This collection of thirteen contributions reflects the scope vitality and relevance of English and American Studies inside and outside the university

Scandalous Bodies Smaro Kamboureli, 2011-04-07 Scandalous Bodies is an impassioned scholarly study both of literature by diasporic writers and of the contexts within which it is produced It explores topics ranging from the Canadian government's multiculturalism policy to media representations of so called minority groups from the relationship between realist fiction and history to postmodern constructions of ethnicity from the multicultural theory of the philosopher Charles Taylor to the cultural responsibilities of diasporic critics such as Kamboureli herself Smaro Kamboureli proposes no neat or comforting solutions to the problems she addresses Rather than adhere to a single method of reading or make her argument follow a systematic approach she lets the texts and the socio cultural contexts she examines give shape to her reading In fact methodological issues and the need to revisit them become a leitmotif in the book Theoretically rigorous and historically situated this study also engages with close reading not the kind that views a text as a sovereign world but one that opens the text in order to reveal the method of its making Her practice of what she calls negative pedagogy a self reflexive method of learning and unlearning of decoding the means through which knowledge is produced allows her to avoid the pitfalls of constructing a narrative of progress Her critique of Canadian multiculturalism as a policy that advocates what she calls sedative politics and of the epistemologies of ethnicity that have shaped for example the first wave of ethnic anthologies in Canada are the backdrop against which she examines the various discourses that inform the diasporic experience in Canada Scandalous Bodies was first published in 2000 and received the Gabrielle Roy Prize for Canadian Criticism

The Fiddlehead Moment Tony Tremblay, 2019-12-05 For many Canadians the small province of New Brunswick on Canada's scenic east coast is a nice place to visit but no place to live plagued for generations by outmigration and economic stagnation In The Fiddlehead Moment Tony Tremblay challenges this potent stereotype by showcasing the work of a group of literary modernists who set out to change the meaning of New Brunswick in the national lexicon Alfred Bailey Desmond Pacey Fred Cogswell and a formidable group of local poets and cultural workers collectively New Brunswick's Fiddlehead School sought to restore New Brunswick's literary reputation by adapting avant garde modernist practices to the contours of the province opening it to the contemporary world while also encouraging writers to make it their subject. The result was a non-urban form of modernism that was as responsive to technical innovation as to the human geographies of New Brunswick. By placing New Brunswick writers and critics at the forefront of Canadian literature in the midcentury modernist project Tremblay adds an important new chapter to our understanding of Canadian modernism. The Fiddlehead Moment is the first critical examination of this group's considerable influence. Whether through Bailey's ethnomethodology, Pacey's critical ordering or Cogswell's editorial eclecticism in the Fiddlehead magazine and Fiddlehead Poetry Books authors in New Brunswick Tremblay argues had a profound impact on writing in Canada.
