it shall be read and admired a good many centuries because of its form and method a form and method whereby the past and the present are constantly brought face to face resulting in contrasts which newly fire up the interest all along like contact of flint with steel Moreover this autobiography of mine does not select from my life its showy episodes but deals mainly in the common experiences which go to make up the life of the average human being because these episodes are of a sort which he is familiar with in his own life and in which he sees his own life reflected and set down in print The usual conventional autobiographer seems to particularly hunt out those occasions in his career when he came into contact with celebrated persons whereas his contacts with the uncelebrated were just as interesting to him and would be to his reader and were vastly more numerous than his collisions with the famous Howells was here yesterday afternoon and I told him the whole scheme of this autobiography and its apparently systemless system only apparently systemless for it is not really that It is a deliberate system and the law of the system is that I shall talk about the matter which for the moment interests me and cast it aside and talk about something else the moment its interest for me is exhausted It is a system which follows no charted course and is not going to follow any such course It is a system which is a complete and purposed jumble a course which begins nowhere follows no specified route and can never reach an end while I am alive for the reason that if I should talk to the stenographer two hours a day for a hundred years I should still never be able to set down a tenth part of the things which have interested me in my lifetime I told Howells that this autobiography of mine would live a couple of thousand years without any effort and would then take a fresh start and live the rest of the time He said he believed it would and asked me if I meant to make a library of it I said that that was my design but that if I should live long enough the set of volumes could not be contained merely in a city it would require a State and that there would not be any multi billionaire alive perhaps at any time during its existence who would be able to buy a full set except on the instalment plan Howells applauded and was full of praises and endorsement which was wise in him and judicious If he had manifested a different spirit I would have thrown him out of the window I like criticism but it must be my way Mark Twain, a Biography Albert Bigelow Paine,1912
