her tears And bid the vinas sound but once they set A stringed gourd on the sill there where the wind Could linger o'er its notes and play at will Wild music makes the wind on silver strings And those who lay around heard only that But Prince Siddhartha heard the Devas play And to his ears they sang such words as these We are the voices of the wandering wind Which moan for rest and rest can never find Lo as the wind is so is mortal life A moan a sigh a sob a storm a strife Wherefore and whence we are ye cannot know Nor where life springs nor whither life doth go We are as ye are ghosts from the inane What pleasure have we of our changeful pain t What pleasure hast thou of thy changeless bliss f Nay if love lasted there were joy in this But life's way is the wind's way all these things Are but brief voices breathed on shifting strings O Maya's son because we roam the earth Moan we upon these strings we make no mirth So many woes we see in many lands So many streaming eyes and wringing hands
