Distinguished University Professor University of Maryland This book tirelessly illuminates the nooks and crannies of the power literature taking readers on an audacious tour of power's multiple conceptualizations and expressions Hugh Willmott Diageo Professor of Management Studies University of Cambridge Clegg and his associates expose the power dynamics that lie at the heart of all political and organizational arenas and in so doing they shed light on the underbelly along with the creative potentialities in organizational life Joyce Rothschild Professor of Sociology Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University Strange but true most studies of organizational hierarchies downplay the issue of power or uncritically assume more is better while ignoring its pernicious effects Stewart Clegg David Courpasson and Nelson Phillips set the record straight Joanne Martin Merrill Professor of Organizational Behavior and by courtesy Sociology Stanford University Graduate School of Business Stanford In this tour de force Stewart Clegg David Courpasson and Nelson Phillips provide a comprehensive account of power and organizations unlocking power as the central relation of modern organizations and society The authors present an excellent synthesis of organization social and political theory to offer an overview of power and organizations that is historically informed addresses current issues and is comprehensive in scope Power and Organizations reviews the evolution of theories on power and organization presenting not only the theorists who identify power as positive but also dealing with the negativity of power and the real horror of which organizations are capable which has thus far been underplayed in organization theory At the core of organizational power projects are organizational elites whose politics and projects are examined extensively in the book The book concludes by examining the implications for organizations and their elites of the trends tendencies and theories considered in the course of the book This book is required reading for graduate students and researchers in areas such as organizational social and political theory

Followership Development and Enactment among the Acholi of Uganda David Wesley Ofumbi, 2019-07-25 The industrial era organizations used dualistic leadership theory which regarded followers as objects of leaders influence to socialize them into passive followership irrespective of context and outcome Consequently organizations focused on leadership and condemned active followership as a toxic behavior that sabotages organizational processes and outcomes However the emergence of relational leadership theory in the information era flattened organizational structure which created a greater need for collaboration within and across sectors In this new era organizations cannot survive without responsible individuals who could be productive as both leaders and followers As a result organizations are experiencing high demand for active followership throughout organizational ranks roles and relationships Nonetheless since followership studies are still in their infancy there is hardly any information on how followers develop and enact active followership Whereas some studies established followership identity role and behaviors and identified factors influencing their development none has explored how they do so This study offers a theory of followership development and enactment anchored in a seamless paradigm that can be used to expand leadership theory beyond dualistic tendencies that absolutized the differences among leadership variables despite their seamlessness Therefore it enhances organizational desire and capacity to develop and engage star followers effectively
