Research on Technology in Social Studies Education John Lee,Adam M. Friedman,2009-11-01 Despite technology s presence in virtually every public school its documented familiarity and use by youth outside of school and the wealth of resources it provides for teaching social studies there has been relatively little empirical research on its effectiveness for the teaching and learning of social studies In an effort to begin to fill this gap in research literature this book focuses on research on technology in social studies education The objectives of this volume are threefold to describe research frameworks provide examples of empirical research and chart a course for future research endeavors Accordingly the volume is divided into three overarching sections research constructs and contexts research reports and research reviews The need for research is particularly acute within the field of social studies and technology As the primary purpose of social studies is to prepare the young people of today to be the citizens of tomorrow it is necessary to examine how technology tools impact improve and otherwise affect teaching and learning in social studies Given these circumstances we have prepared this collection of research conceptualizations reports and reviews to achieve three goals 1 Put forward reports on how research is being conducted in the field 2 Present findings from well designed research studies that provide evidence of how specific applications of technology are affecting teaching and learning in social studies 3 Showcase reviews of research in social studies It is with this framework that we edited this volume Research on Technology and Social Studies Education as an effort to address emerging concerns related to theorizing about the field and reporting research in social studies and technology The book is divided into four sections The first section of the book includes three descriptions of research constructs and contexts in social studies and technology The second section is focused on research reports from studies of student learning in social studies with technology The third section contains research reports on teachers pedagogical considerations for using technology in social studies In the fourth and final section we present work that broadly reviews and critiques research in focused areas of social studies and technology This volume contains twelve chapters each of which focuses on social studies content and pedagogy and how the field is affected and enhanced with technology The volume includes research and theoretical works on various topics including digital history digital video geography technology use in the K 12 social studies classroom and artificial intelligence

Research in Education ,1974 Resources in Education ,1990 Assessment in Geographical Education: An International Perspective Theresa Bourke,Reece Mills,Rod Lane,2022-02-27

In recent years there has been increased attention paid to the importance of assessment in Geographical Education the chosen subject for this book Assessment is an important tool for collecting information about student learning and for providing timely data to inform key stakeholders including students teachers parents and policymakers To be effective assessment needs to be valid reliable and fair Validity is about ensuring that we assess what we claim we are assessing Reliability is about measuring performance and understanding in a consistent way Without validity and reliability assessment is unlikely to provide equitable opportunities for students to demonstrate what they know and can do As geography educators it is therefore important that we identify the core concepts and skills in geography that we want students to master We need a clear understanding of what the progression of learning looks like for each concept and skill so we can develop fit for purpose assessments that track and improve student learning While there is a substantial literature on evidence based assessment in secondary school contexts research exploring best practice assessment in geography is rare This is a concern given the distinctive nature of geography and the important role of assessment in the learning process This scholarly collection seeks to address this issue by connecting research in educational assessment with the domain of geography The chapters are written by leading researchers in Geographical Education from across the globe These chapters provide examples of innovation through the collective voices of geography teacher educator scholars from across Australia USA South Korea Germany Switzerland and Singapore What unifies the work in this book is that each chapter focuses on a key feature of the discipline of geography providing scholarly examples of evidence based practices for assessing student s
