Story Of Maps Mapmaking Golden:

The Golden Age of Data Visualization Kim Marriott, 2024-09-04 We are living in the Golden Age of Data Visualization The COVID 19 pandemic has demonstrated how we increasingly use data visualizations to make sense of the world Business analysts fill their presentations with charts journalists use infographics to engage their readers we rely on the dials and gauges on our household appliances and we use mapping apps on our smartphones to find our way This book explains how and why this has happened It details the evolution of information graphics the kinds of graphics at the core of data visualization maps diagrams charts scientific and medical images from prehistory to the present day It explains how the cultural context production and presentation technologies and data availability have shaped the history of data visualization It considers the perceptual and cognitive reasons why data visualization is so effective and explores the little known world of tactile graphics raised line drawings used by people who are blind The book also investigates the way visualization has shaped our modern world The European Renaissance and the Scientific Revolution relied on maps and technical and scientific drawings and graphics influence how we think about abstract concepts like time and social connection This book is written for data visualization researchers and professionals and anyone interested in data visualization and the way we use graphics to understand and think about the world

Women in American Cartography Judith Tyner, 2019-11-13 Although women have been involved in mapping throughout history their story has largely been hidden The standard histories of cartography have focused on men A woman's name is rarely found In Women in American Cartography Judith Tyner argues that women were not deliberately erased but overlooked because of the types of maps they made and the jobs they held Tyner looks at over fifty women exemplars in American cartography and their maps She looks at teachers who made school atlases in the early nineteenth century at pictorial mapmakers and book illustrators who created popular maps at women who pioneered social and persuasive mapping promoting causes such as suffrage at women travelers who recorded their trips and mapped unexplored places at women whose maps helped win World War II at women academics who studied taught and wrote about cartographic theory at colleges and universities and at women who worked in government agencies and commercial mapping companies These are just a few of the stories of women in American cartography
