The Law Courts The Architecture Of George Edmund Street:

The Law Courts David Bruce Brownlee, 1984 This is the first book devoted exclusively to Street and his greatest work the Royal Law Courts in the Strand George Edmund Street 1824 1881 was a leader of the High Victorian generation of British architects A prolific and innovative artist he also played an important role in the reshaping of architectural taste that occurred in England at mid century This is the first book devoted exclusively to Street and his greatest work the Royal Law Courts in the Strand In The Law Courts David Brownlee makes extensive use of the vast archives of the Public Record Office to document a monument that embodies both the professional controversies surrounding architectural theory and the personal conflicts of an architect caught between two generations of style More than an examination of a single building the book is also a history of political and legal reform in the middle of Queen Victoria's reign In the course of describing the Law Courts in their urban and architectural context Brownlee also discusses the nature of the bureaucracy that oversaw official patronage of the arts and the demands of clients whose interests often conflicted He describes the competition in which Street attempted to unite the irregular vigor of Gothic with the quasi classical symmetry and monumentality appropriate for a public building the long series of revised designs which increasingly displayed the picturesque qualities of the new Queen Anne taste and the actual construction of the Courts This book is volume 8 in the Architectural History Foundation Series

Law courts; the architecture of George Edmund Street D.B. Brownlee, A Victorian Architectural Controversy Ariyuki Kondo, 2019-11-08 Who was the bona fide architect of the New Houses of Parliament Charles Barry 1795 1860 the winner of the Parliamentary competition or Augustus Welby Northmore Pugin 1812 52 the ghost designer a young Catholic architect and Gothic specialist After both men died the controversy over the actual architect of the Houses of Parliament was to become a matter of public dispute largely stimulated by the directly opposed claims published by the two men's sons the architect Edward Welby Pugin 1834 75 and Rev Alfred Barry 1826 1910 an Anglican clergyman who later became the Bishop of Sydney The writings of both sons compiled here in a single volume reveal to us the whole picture of the controversy over the real authorship of the grandest architectural monument of Victorian Britain and the feverish reactions to it of the nineteenth century British public which evince the Victorian democratization of artistic appreciation The London

Quarterly Review, 1872 The Battle of the Styles Bernard Porter, 2011-03-17 The present day Foreign Office in Whitehall is an imposing building whose genesis is bizarre In 1857 a competition was held to pick an architect which provoked a huge row between the rival Classical and Gothic schools which a Goth George Gilbert Scott won but was then forced to re design in Classical The circumstances surrounding this fiasco furnish the starting point for this book which then goes on to analyse the debate that preceded this decision for the light it sheds on the complex nature of British culture and society then Among issues raised were contemporary and conflicting understandings of Britain's or England's national and imperial identities of religion and morality of history modernity and progress and of class and gender The debate offers an unusual insight into the relationship between all these matters and high culture generally This account of it should be of great value to cultural and social historians as well as to any architectural historians interested in the broader historical context surrounding this and other great monuments of the time Nature's Museums Carla Yanni, 2005-09-09 Yanni art history Rutgers U examines the relationship between architecture and science in the 19th century by considering the physical placement and display of natural artifacts in Victorian natural history museums She begins by discussing the problem of classification the social history of collecting as well as architectural competitions and Unlocking the Church William Hadden Whyte, 2017

Unlocking the Church is the story of a revolution The Victorians transformed how churches were understood experienced and built Initially controversial this revolution was so successful that it has now been forgotten Yet it still shapes our experience of church buildings and also helps make sense of what we should do with them now Quarterly Review , 1871 The Gothic Fred Botting, 2001 These essays reexamine the literary historical and cultural significance of the Gothic Examples range from Horace Walpole to Angela Carter and the modern television programme The X Files as well as new and more familiar texts Architect , 1874
