One Day Closer to Death Jennifer Rinaldi, 2022-07-25 What my soul sees cannot be conceived by any thought nor expressed in words I see nothing and I see it all The more infinite Good is seen in the darkness the more certain it is and the more it exceeds all things else Saint Angela of Foligno Book of visions and instructions I have an incredible story to tell and as my finger crosses the soft surface of my third scroll I realize why this story must be told It occurs during extraordinary times between two worlds that have grown complacent about God Perhaps that's why Azrael and I were positioned to meet as God has a sense of humor and an exquisite sense of irony A rebellion brewing on heaven and earth made worse by doubt about whether we even need each other As both realms wrestle with the yes no and maybe's the four horsemen saddle up Stay with me here because redemption is always worth it especially when it comes to the salvation of two profoundly broken beings one who has been transformed into the bringer of death and the collector of souls A being who has hidden from his disfigurement and refuses to look any further in fear of what he might see And then there's me a middle aged breast cancer survivor who until I met him could barely find the will to live outside of work much less find the courage to look at myself in the mirror Despite all that baggage Azrael and I find each other twice Within our bond we find the courage to believe in one another and look beyond outward appearances to the souls beneath Our unlikely friendship and later love will give hope and proof to both heaven earth that we need each other to flourish even if those opposed to our message seek to devastate everything we hold dear Our journey will nearly destroy us but will lead us to a place where our battle for the partnership between angels and mankind will outweigh our struggles allowing us to find a cause much more significant than our own lives Along the way we find like minds and souls that will join us on our quest Excerpt From One Day Closer to Death Jen Rinaldi <https://itunes.apple.com/WebObjects/MZStore.woa/viewBook?id=0> This material may be protected by copyright

Ammerman, 2006-12-14 Social scientists sometimes seem not to know what to do with religion In the first century of sociology s history as a discipline the reigning concern was explaining the emergence of the modern world and that brought with it an expectation that religion would simply fade from the scene as societies became diverse complex and enlightened As the century approached its end however a variety of global phenomena remained dramatically unexplained by these theories Among the leading contenders for explanatory power to emerge at this time were rational choice theories of religious behavior Researchers who have spent time in the field observing religious groups and interviewing practitioners however have questioned the sufficiency of these market models Studies abound that describe thriving religious phenomena that fit neither the old secularization paradigm nor the equations predicting vitality only among organizational entrepreneurs with strict orthodoxies In this collection of previously unpublished essays scholars who have been immersed in field research in a wide variety of settings draw on those observations from the field to begin to develop more helpful ways to study religion in modern lives The authors examine how religion functions on the ground in a pluralistic society how it is experienced by individuals and how it is expressed in social institutions Taken as a whole these essays point to a new approach to the study of religion one that emphasizes individual experience and social context over strict categorization and data collection
