Languages and Literacies as Mobile and Placed Resources Sue Nichols, Collette Snowden, 2016-10-04 Languages and Literacies as Mobile and Placed Resources explores how languages and literacies are implicated in the complex relationship between place and mobility It is a book that represents the next wave in literacy studies in which theories of mobility networking and globalisation have emerged to account for the dynamic landscape of globally circulating communication resources Authors in this volume take up a more complex way of thinking about resources applying it to consider languages and literacies as assemblages or as parts of assemblages that are involved in learning teaching and meaning making The book addresses forms of text and mobility that arise in contexts outside of formal education including marketing charity journalism community organisation and parenting It also addresses school contexts and higher education settings Key topics explored include Consequences of workplace confinement Literacies as placed resources in the context of rural communities Literacy sustainability and landscapes for learning Documenting networked knowledge on tablets Mobilising literacy policy through resources Global Englishes as placed resources Languages as contextualised resources Shaping a digital academic writing resource in a transcultural space With an international range of carefully chosen contributors this book is a must read text for all academics interested in semiotics and literacy studies

Literacy Practices in Transition Anne Pitkänen-Huhta, Lars Holm, 2012-11-14 Literacy Practices in Transition explores the connections between local situated literacy practices and global processes of mobility in the geographical space of the Nordic countries an example of contemporary mobile societies The detailed empirical analyses show how these connections affect individuals practices and policies how the global and local meet in discourses and practices and how people need to re negotiate their way in the complex and messy spaces in which they move The volume challenges current trends in the global standardization of language and literacy education. Instead, it promotes the idea of literacy as a multiple, multilingual, multimodal and constantly contestable and negotiable phenomenon which calls for the development of language and literacy education that is sensitive to the needs and experiences of the individual actors.

Literacy in Practice Patrick Thomas, Pamela Takayoshi, 2015-11-19. The rise of New Literacy Studies and the shift from studying reading and writing as a technical process to examining situated literacies—what people do with literacy in particular social situations—has focused attention toward understanding the connections between reading and writing practices and the broader social goals and cultural practices. These literacy practices help to shape. This collection brings together situated research studies of literacy across a range of specific contexts covering everyday educational and workplace domains. Its contribution is to provide through an empirical framework a larger cumulative understanding of literacy across diverse contexts.

Computer-Mediated Communication for Linguistics and Literacy: Technology and Natural Language Education Bodomo, Adams B., 2009-07-31. This book investigates the way humans communicate through the medium of information technology gadgets focusing on the linguistic literacy and educational aspects of computer-mediated communication. Provided by publisher.

Literacy in Times of Crisis Laurie MacGillivray, 2009-12-04. On the frontline of critical issues in education today, this volume covers new ground for teachers and teacher educators for whom crisis is a daily part of their work. Exploring the relationship between crisis and literacy, its aims are to improve educators' ability to recognize, cope with, and avoid crisis and to advance their understanding of the dynamic relationship between crisis and cultural, historical, and political literacy practices.

Searching for Literacy Harvey J. Graff, 2022-08-21. This book provides a critical account of the development of questions, approaches, methods, and understandings of literacy within and across disciplines and interdisciplines. It provides a critique of literacy studies, including the New Literacy Studies. This book completes a series that the author began in the 1970s. It criticizes and revises the New Literacy Studies and how we think about literacy generally. It is a revisionist study which argues that literacy and literacy studies are historical developments and must be understood in those terms to comprehend their profound impact on our traditions of thinking about and understanding literacy and how we study it. Graff argues that literacy studies in its academic, institutional, and policy forums but also in popular parlance has lost its critical foundations and this hinders efforts to promote literacy. He examines literacy over time and across linguistics, anthropology, psychology, reading and writing, across modes of communication and comprehension, new literacies across digital, visual, performance, numerical, and scientific domains, and history. He underscores the value of new directions of negotiation and translation. This book will interest scholars and students in the many fields that constitute literacy studies across the humanities, social sciences, education, and beyond.

Genetic Literacy in Direct-to-Consumer Genetic Testing Zhengpeng Luo, 2025-11-14. This book examines language and communication in a novel area of digital health. Situating itself within the sociocultural paradigm of literacy research, the book proposes a discourse-oriented approach to genetic literacy.

and applies it to the study of public engagement with direct to consumer DTC genetic testing an emergent biotechnology operating at the intersection of personal genomics consumer culture and online health The author draws on a rich dataset comprising marketing materials from a leading genetic company in China interviews with genetic test users and online forum interactions involving consumers and members of the genetic company Using in depth analyses of authentic discourse data the book examines how key stakeholders in DTC genetic testing discursively construct and negotiate socially situated knowledges about genetics and health to pursue a range of interactional goals Challenging the static and cognitive view of genetic literacy as a set of decontextualised knowledge and skills in scientific and medical fields this book argues for a reconceptualisation of genetic literacy as a dynamic and socially situated discursive practice Building on key insights from medical sociology the author discusses genetic literacy within the context of broader societal shifts including the biomedicalisation of health and the rise of neoliberal ideologies and practices in contemporary healthcare Written in a clear and accessible style this book will appeal to researchers and students working in the areas of sociolinguistics discourse analysis and health communication It will also be of particular interest to practitioners in genetics and health as well as members of the general public seeking to understand the social aspects of public engagement with genetics and health

Between PIAAC and the New Literacy Studies Anke Grotlüschen, Lisanne Heilmann, 2021-01-15 With this book we present a selection of articles that critically deal with internationally comparative large scale assessments We acknowledge that studies such as PIAAC are often designed financed and implemented on the basis of neo liberal worldviews Nevertheless we would like to use the articles that are presented here to show the various ways in which adult and continuing education can benefit and learn from the knowledge that they generate In PIAAC for example there are huge differences between the surveyed variables and the theoretical frameworks on literacies and literacy practices that the New Literacy Studies NLS have brought out This book features eleven articles which with the NLS s theoretical considerations and points of criticism in mind find new and alternative evaluations and interpretations of the data Not only can they show effects of marginalization on a large scale but the data can also provide information about mechanisms of power in relation to literacy and basic competencies

Interdisciplinary approaches to literacy and development Kaushik Basu, Bryan Maddox, Anna Robinson-Pant, 2013-09-13

The links between literacy and development have been the focus of research conducted by both economists and anthropologists. Yet researchers from these different disciplines have tended to work in isolation from each other. This book aims to create a space for new interdisciplinary debate in this area through bringing together contributions on literacy and development from the fields of education, literacy studies, anthropology and economics. The book extends our theoretical understanding on the ways in which people's acquisition and uses of literacy influence changes in agency, identity, social practice and labour market and other outcomes. The chapters discuss data from diverse cultural contexts: South Africa, Bangladesh, India, Nepal, Peru and Mexico, and from contrasting research paradigms. The contributors examine the significance of culture and socio-economic contexts in shaping such processes. As such, they contribute to our understanding of the role of literacy in processes of poverty reduction and its importance to people's capabilities and wellbeing. The themes covered include the dynamics of literacy use in the production of agency, the enactment, negotiation and embodiment of new social identities including gendered and religious identities, the impacts of literate identities and use on institutional relations and social participation, the dynamics of literacy sharing and their externalities within and beyond households, formal analysis of the impacts of proximate illiteracy on labour market and health outcomes across men and women and social contexts. This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of Development Studies.

Researching Early Childhood Literacy in the Classroom Lucy Henning, 2019-11-05. This volume demonstrates how the ethnographic approach to research demanded by a Literacy as Social Practice perspective can generate fresh insights into what happens when young children engage with schooled literacy tasks. Researching Early Childhood Literacy in the Classroom argues that the lived experience of young children encountering formal schooled literacy curricula should be the foremost consideration in educational reforms intended to improve rates of literacy acquisition in schools. To make this argument, the author suspends traditional concerns with learning and progress to concentrate on practice and meaning in a careful analysis of key classroom incidents. The author concludes that such insights suggest a need for re-considering the assumptions upon which educational policy rests. This book will be of great interest to graduate and postgraduate students, researchers, academics and libraries in the fields of Literacy Studies, Teacher Education, Education Policy and Applied Linguistics.

Literacy in Australia Amy Seely Flint, Mark Vicars, Amanda Muscat, Maria Bennet, Robyn Ewing, Kylie Shaw, Lisa Kervin, Jessica Mantei, Jeanne Iorio, Catherine Hamm, Mitchell Parker, Marcelle Cacciattolo, Lawry Mahon, Sarah Tartakover, 2024-02-20. Infused with our authors' personal experiences teaching Literacy in Australia, 4th Edition is delivered as a full colour printed textbook with an interactive eBook code included. With a prioritised focus on the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander histories and cultures featured throughout the text and a greater focus on using ICT in the classroom, pre-service teachers will be well equipped with the knowledge of what kinds of activities they can include in and out of the classroom for an enriching learning experience for their students.

Literacy in the New Media Age Gunther Kress,2003-09-02 In this new media age the screen has replaced the book as the dominant medium of communication This dramatic change has made image rather than writing the centre of communication In this groundbreaking book Gunther Kress considers the effects of a revolution that has radically altered the relationship between writing and the book Taking into account social economic communication and technological factors Kress explores how these changes will affect the future of literacy Kress considers the likely larger level social and cultural effects of that future arguing that the effects of the move to the screen as the dominant medium of communication will produce far reaching shifts in terms of power and not just in the sphere of communication The democratic potentials and effects of the new information and communication technologies will Kress contends have the widest imaginable consequences Literacy in the New Media Age is suitable for anyone fascinated by literacy and its wider political and cultural implications It will be of particular interest to those studying education communication studies media studies or linguistics

Literacy Research for Political Action and Social Change Mollie V. Blackburn,Caroline T. Clark,2007 This book and its contributors all of whom view literacy research as explicitly political and potentially transformative provide images and approaches that show how work with in the local can and must be connected to global issues in order to effect political action Researchers and educators are urged to take activist stances that directly affect and address the needs of all people across lines of race class ethnicity sexuality and gender The book is organized into three parts each focusing on different aspects of literacy research for political action These include theoretical considerations and methodological approaches that support this work a reconsideration of the roles of participants as collaborators in this kind of literacy research and finally examples of projects specifically aimed at addressing global issues through local research for political action Adult Literacy as Social Practice Uta Papen,2005-09-22 In this unique book the author shows that teaching staff have much to gain from understanding the role of literacy in learners lives focusing on the practicalities of how teachers and students can work from a social practice perspective
