One Place after Another Miwon Kwon, 2004-02-27 A critical history of site specific art since the late 1960s Site specific art emerged in the late 1960s in reaction to the growing commodification of art and the prevailing ideals of art's autonomy and universality Throughout the 1970s and 1980s as site specific art intersected with land art process art performance art conceptual art installation art institutional critique community based art and public art its creators insisted on the inseparability of the work and its context In recent years however the presumption of unrepeatability and immobility encapsulated in Richard Serra's famous dictum to remove the work is to destroy the work is being challenged by new models of site specificity and changes in institutional and market forces One Place after Another offers a critical history of site specific art since the late 1960s and a theoretical framework for examining the rhetoric of aesthetic vanguardism and political progressivism associated with its many permutations Informed by urban theory postmodernist criticism in art and architecture and debates concerning identity politics and the public sphere the book addresses the siting of art as more than an artistic problem It examines site specificity as a complex cipher of the unstable relationship between location and identity in the era of late capitalism The book addresses the work of among others John Ahearn Mark Dion Andrea Fraser Donald Judd Renee Green Suzanne Lacy Inigo Manglano Ovalle Richard Serra Mierle Laderman Ukeles and Fred Wilson

The State of Art - Installation & Site-Specific #2 Andy Laffan, Chris Hodson, Robin Laffan, 2015-09-15 Installation art can be broadly defined as work which is three dimensional and is produced in order to transform the perception of a space In the past this term was primarily meant to describe the hanging of pictures and other objects within an exhibition in more recent times the term has come to signify work which deals directly with the space the artist often creating mixed media assemblages designed for a temporary period of time Site specific work is closely related to Installation art in the sense that it is usually composed of objects installed at a location Where the two may differ is that in a site specific work the artist is often dealing with the history folklore geography or social issues of a particular place and in that sense the work can only exist at that location In addition because the work relies on being placed so specifically many site specific works are located outside of the gallery in often unconventional public spaces Sampling and Site-Specific Practice in Contemporary Art Margot Bouman, 2025-05-15 In the early 20th century copying cutting and pasting entered the Western European avant garde through collage and readymades as artists employed found objects and ephemera to create new meaning from existing materials This book explores how this practice has evolved in contemporary art today looking at its important and distinct outcomes in the practice of artists such as Andrea Fraser Douglas Gordon Isaac Julien Christian Marclay Amie Siegel and Christopher Williams It analyses the pivotal consequences of the interrelationships these artists establish between fragments of culture from television and film to internet culture and their artwork s site where the verb to sample has become deeply tied to digital music editing writing image production database searches and social media Samples take many forms quotations of other cultural works replicas of other objects reenactments of works by other artists or fragments that are quite literally cut or removed from other works of art design or media Via Bouman s analysis we visualise the shared frameworks of meaning that underpin these multifaceted multidimensional and medium fluid works Focussing on action and form the book discusses the relationship between the referent and reference and the citational labor that any sample performs The distributive sense of authorship that emerges places the audience in a new position of significance Concepts and themes discussed include queer and race theory postproduction and mirroring mobile site specificity now time and dragging and gender fluidity and Drag King performance centring sampling as a key form of 21st century art With novel insights into the conceptual material and aesthetic dimensions of sampling in contemporary culture the book provides a new critical framework for understanding the complex implications of this practice as a vital resource for researchers in contemporary art practice and visual culture
