Abstract

Social cohesion and a sustainable labour market remain the aims of sustainable development policy. However, income inequalities and labour market policies are more often separately analysed. To fill the identified research gap, our article presents the results of an analysis of interactions between active and passive labour market policies and income inequalities in the European Union. The 27 countries were divided into two clusters based on their active and passive labour market policy (LMP) expenditures in 2019. These clusters sustain the basis for analysing the interactions between LMP and income inequalities in its different measures. The results reveal that labour market interventions interact with income inequalities, decreasing disposable income inequalities (equalising the disposable income after transfers and taxes) and therefore contributing to social cohesion. This paper concerns social cohesion as the manifestation of intragenerational justice.

Keywords: income inequalities, labour market policy, sustainable labour market, social cohesion, sustainable development

The Aftermath of 'Real Existing Socialism' in Eastern Europe Anne Lorentzen,Marianne Rostgaard,2016-07-27 This selection of studies discusses potentials and barriers to social and industrial change in Central and Eastern Europe It is argued that levers of change in today's international setting primarily must be found within the countries themselves The main themes addressed in the book are firstly the formation of new social classes and institutions regulating social and economic life Secondly the reshaping of intra firm as well as inter firm relations and thirdly links between firms and public authorities including R D institutions

Hungary since 1945 Árpád von Klimó,2017-12-14 Lying on the political fault line between East and West for the past seventy five years the significance of Hungary in geopolitical terms has far outweighed the modest size of its population This book charts the main events of these tumultuous decades including the 1956 Uprising the end of Hungarian communism entry into the European Union and the rise to power of Viktor Orbán and the national conservative ruling party Fidesz

Gender Inequality in the Eastern European Labour Market Giovanni Razzu,2016-10-26 Under communism there was in the countries of Eastern Europe a high level of gender equality in the labour market particularly in terms of high participation rates by women The transition from communism has upset this situation with different impacts in the different countries This book presents a comprehensive overview of gender and the labour market since the fall of communism in a wide range of Eastern European countries Each country chapter describes the nature of inequality in the particular country and goes on to examine the factors responsible for this including government policies changing social attitudes levels of educational attainment and the impact of motherhood Overall the book provides an interesting comparison to the situation in Western developed countries outlining differences and similarities No one single Eastern European model emerges while as in Western developed countries a range of experiences and trends is the norm

OECD Economic Surveys: Hungary 2024 OECD,2024-03-06 After a strong demand based recovery following the COVID 19 pandemic economic activity declined amid high inflation Growth has restarted in mid

2023 and inflation is receding but fiscal and monetary policies need to work hand in hand to fight remaining inflationary pressures and recreate fiscal space to finance future spending needs Debating Unemployment Policy Laurent Bernhard, Flavia Fossati, Regula Hänggli, Hanspeter Kriesi, 2019-05-02 Considers the policy debates surrounding unemployment in Western Europe after the outbreak of the Great Recession The Political Economy of Hungary Adam Fabry, 2019-04-03 This book explores the political economy of Hungary from the mid 1970s to the present Widely considered a poster boy of neoliberal transformation in post communist Eastern Europe until the mid 2000s Hungary has in recent years developed into a model illiberal regime Constitutional checks and balances are non functioning the independent media trade unions and civil society groups are constantly attacked by the authorities there is widespread intolerance against minorities and refugees and the governing FIDESZ party led by Prime Minister Viktor Orb n controls all public institutions and increasingly large parts of the country s economy To make sense of the politico economical roller coaster that Hungary has experienced in the last four decades Fabry employs a Marxian political economy approach emphasising competitive accumulation class struggle both between capital and labour as well as different fractions of capital and uneven and combined development The author analyses the neoliberal transformation of the Hungarian political economy and argues that the drift to authoritarianism under the Orb n regime cannot be explained as a case of Hungarian exceptionalism but rather represents an outcome of the inherent contradictions of the variety of neoliberalism that emerged in Hungary after 1989
