Evans,2022-09-24 This monograph is dedicated to the lives and scientific achievements of the physiology pioneers Warren and Margaret Lewis Their story spans the first half of the 20th century from their respective educations through early independent research to joint research from 1910 to 1955 Among the numerous developments they initiated were the discovery of pinocytosis the beginnings of video microscopy and the development of the first mammalian tissue cultures Their research expanded the theoretical knowledge of cell structure and function On a more practical level they advanced many laboratory methods like the first recipes for culture media The text is beautifully enriched with personal anecdotes about their lives This is the story of two scientific pioneers in the context of early 20th century biology and physiology It is an inspiration for senior and aspiring researchers      The medical digest, a means of ready reference to the principal contributions to medical science during the last thirty years Richard Neale,1891      Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965 70      The Journal of the American Medical Association ,1902      The Evolution of Population Biology Rama S. Progress in Medicinal Chemistry , 1986-01-01 There are five main subject areas in this volume in the series on medicinal chemistry The first is a review of the understanding of Alzheimer s disease and the development of drugs for its treatment the second looking at recent efforts in modifying a naturally occurring anticancer camptothecin for chemotherapy the third covers the problem of getting a drug to a specific site within the context of phosphates and phosphonates a survey of sterilization using aldehydes for the destruction of microbes both inside and outside the human body is reviewed in the fourth and the last chapter is an account of the progress made in the biologically active enantiomer for complex synthetic asymmetric drug molecules      Neuromodulation Irwin B. Levitan, 1987 Traditional neuroscience texts have stressed the output of neurons how they turn postsynaptic targets on or off cause muscles to twitch or convert photons into electrical pulses Neuromodulation alters that emphasis to examine how the responses of nerve cells can be modified Because a neuron s performance can be modulated brains of all animals exhibit the amazing capacity to learn Presenting the best studied examples Kaczmarek and Levitan provide the first detailed review of those potassium and calcium channels whose functions are modulated through receptor mediated second messenger mechanisms and that are thought to underlie many important kinds of neuronal plasticity This book which covers up to date biophysical work in both vertebrate and invertebrate neurons will be greatly appreciated by the readership the authors wish to reach neurophysiological biochemists and biochemical

Interrelationship Among Aging, Cancer and Differentiation A. Pullman, Paul O.P. Ts'O, Edward L. Schneider, 2012-12-06 In 1980 a distinguished group of scientists gathered in Washington D C for an International Symposium on Aging and Cancer Among the recommendations of this Symposium was to convene a future meeting to discuss the molecular basis for Interrelationships between aging and cancer when the appropriate scientific knowledge was available That same year the 13th Jerusalem Symposium on Quantum Chemistry and Biochemistry entitled Carcinogenesis: Fundamental Mechanisms and Environmental Effects was held attended by some 50 International authorities In this field At this meeting It became clear that the fundamental process of carcinogenesis is intimately associated with differentiation which must also be mechanistically related to aging It was therefore proposed that the next Jerusalem Symposium on Cancer could provide the appropriate forum for the study on the Interrelationship among cancer aging and differentiation The impressive advances in our knowledge of the nature of the genome through molecular genetic and physical chemical techniques have now provided the opportunity to examine the Interrelationships between these complex biological processes Through the isolation cloning and rearranging of genes we are able to dissect and manipulate the genome in a fashion that was unanticipated only a decade ago At the same time the increase in longevity and the increased numbers of individuals entering the last decades of life where cancer incidences are highest raise the profound and practical question of whether aging and cancer are linked through common mechanisms
