Olukoshi, 1996 This report summarises the results of work at the Nordiska Afrikainstitutet Nordic Africa Institute NAI on the impact of structural adjustment implementation on the economies, states and societies of sub-Saharan Africa It consists of two essays and an appendix listing research projects which have been or are being carried out under the auspices of NAI The first essay raises a series of conceptual and methodological questions in the context of a presentation of some of the main empirical results obtained from extended field work carried out during the course of 1992 and 1993 in Kenya Tanzania and Zimbabwe The second essay presents the three main themes private trading networks and structures the changing political economy of land and popular forms of social provisioning that constitute the core of the second phase of NAI's structural adjustment research and in so doing provides a review of aspects of the adjustment literature This report is therefore an attempt both at stock taking and agenda building as part of a wider quest for deepening our understanding of the structures and processes of socio-economic change associated with the crisis and adjustment years in contemporary Africa Structural Adjustment, Reconstruction and Development in Africa Kempe Ronald Hope, 2019-06-04 First published in 1997 this volume is intended to make a contribution to both the literature and the contentious debate on the relationship between structural adjustment and reconstruction and development in Africa as seen from the multidisciplinary perspective of academics and practitioners working in Africa on African development problems and issues The implementation of structural adjustment in Africa has spawned a considerable and still on-going debate with vociferous advocates on both sides of the issue particularly with respect to the efficacy of structural adjustment programmes SAPs as an antidote to Africa's development crisis This book contributes to that debate with a rich mixture of analytical views and ideas covering a wide range of countries and sectors on the role and impact of structural adjustment programmes on the process of reconstruction and development in Africa Structural Adjustment and Beyond in Sub-Saharan Africa Rolph van der Hoeven, F. IMF and World Bank Sponsored Structural Adjustment Programs in Africa Kwadwo Konadu-Agyemang, 2018-10-24 This title was first published in 2001 Bringing together geographers planners political scientists economists rural development specialists bankers public administrators and other development experts this volume questions the benefits of Structural Adjustment Programmes SAPs It critically assesses the impact of SAPs from a wider perspective than a purely economic one highlighting concerns about impacts of adjustments on the more vulnerable elements of society such as social welfare the environment labour gender and agriculture Revealing both the costs and benefits of the economic restructuring programme the book also suggests alternatives to current development models and how SAPs can be made more sustainable An original and comprehensive addition to the collections of both students and practitioners of development Our Continent, Our Future P. Thandika Mkandawire, Charles Chukwuma Soludo, 1998 Our Continent Our Future presents the emerging African perspective on this complex issue The authors use as background their own extensive experience and a collection of 30 individual studies 25 of which were from African economists to summarize this African perspective and articulate a path for the future They underscore the need to be sensitive to each country's unique history and current condition They argue for a broader policy agenda and for a much more active role for the state within what is largely a market economy Finally they stress that Africa must and can compete in an increasingly globalized world and perhaps most importantly that Africans must assume the leading role in defining the continent's development agenda Negotiating Structural Adjustment in Africa Willem van der Geest, 1994 Through Structural Adjustment to Transformation in Sub-Saharan Africa Hasa Mfaume Mlawa, Reginald Herbold Green, 1998 As a contribution to the structural adjustment debate this study sets out a series of important factual judgemental normative and contextual issues relevant for understanding and explaining past performance and experience of Structural Adjustment in Africa It is a product of ten studies from the Institute of Development Studies in which thirteen sub-Saharan countries participated The contributors review the experience of a number of sub-Saharan African countries in designing and executing stabilization and adjustment programmes during the 1970s and 1980s The eight parts include the macro framework sectoral issues politics and governance the World Bank experience the way forward and country reports Structural Adjustment in Sub-Saharan Africa, 1992 The Impact of Structural Adjustment on

A Future for Africa

Bade Onimode,2025-03-03 First published in 1992 A Future for

Africa looks at the crises plaguing the Africa s societies and economies and argues convincingly that the problems are not insuperable but that though their causes are largely external the only long term solutions rest in African hands In this book the author shows how the adjustment programmes imposed on many African countries by the World Bank and the IMF have compounded the disastrous impact of foreign debt trade restrictions and falling export prices Real development will only be achieved he maintains by returning control of Africa s abundant resources to its people and by ensuring greater democracy and accountability in African political structures Structural Adjustment Reconsidered ,1997 2 Poverty in Africa

Between Liberalisation and Oppression P. Thandika Mkandawire,Adebayo O. Olukoshi,1995 No one can fail to be aware of the incredible impact that the IMF and the World Bank have had on Africa Their structural adjustment programmes were deliberately designed to shock African economies into free market reform and ensuing stability But when getting the prices right first swamped the World Bank s African economic plans in the early 1980s few bothered to analyse the politics of a reform package whose immediate impact was violent and unsettling While Africa has come a long way since then the goal of market reform must be as important as the task of understanding the politics of unleashing the forces of the market Not least is the question of democratisation which the Bank itself now attempts to force through with loan conditions This book is the culmination of intense debate by African authors across the continent Three sections make up a comprehensive analysis of adjustment regimes their perspectives and the political context in which they have survived or not Country case studies in both anglophone and francophone Africa round up the analysis
