To Fill the Skies with Pilots Dominick Pisano,1993 This book examines an area of Franklin D Roosevelt s aviation policy the Civilian Pilot Training Program CPTP Extending from 1939 to 1946 the CPTP was the first government attempt to use American colleges and universities as settings for training large numbers of pilots More important the CPTP was a multipurpose program conceived by Robert H Hinckley head of the Civil Aeronautics Authority to serve as a New Deal economic panacea for private flying then a neglected segment of the aviation industry and as a bulwark in the national defense by providing trained pilots On another level it was a means of preparing American youth for the emerging air age Dominick Pisano traces the sometimes colorful always interesting story of the program from its initial stage of satisfying expectations based largely on civilian goals through criticism that it was not contributing to military objectives before World War II to censure by the Army Air Force during the war for not meeting agreed on training quotas Ironically the CPTP trained thousands of military pilots during the war then languished and died for lack of funding a victim of ill defined expectations University of California Chronicle, 1913 From the Battlefield to the Bridal Suite Barbara G. Friedman, 2007 Friedman reexamines the stories surrounding the influx of British war brides brought back to the United States by American GIs after WWII with a focus on media representations of sexuality and marriage in wartime showing how mass media interpretations turned from public suspicion of war brides to popular acceptance Provided by publisher The Christian Century, 1950 University of California Chronicle University of California, Berkeley, 1913 Struggles in War and Peace, 1939-1966 Iverach McDonald, 1984
