Hong Kong's Governance Under Chinese Sovereignty Brian C. H. Fong, 2014-09-04 As a hybrid regime Hong Kong has been governed by a state business alliance since the colonial era However since the handover in 1997 the transformation of Hong Kong s political and socio economic environment has eroded the conditions that supported a viable state business alliance This state business alliance which was once a solution for Hong Kong s governance has now become a political burden rather than a political asset to the post colonial Hong Kong state This book presents a critical re examination of the post 1997 governance crisis in Hong Kong under the Tung Chee hwa and Donald Tsang administrations It shows that the state business alliance has failed to function as an organizational machinery for supporting the post colonial state and has also served to generate new governance problems Drawing upon contemporary theories on hybrid regimes and state capacity this book looks beyond the existing opposition centered explanations of Hong Kong s governance crisis By establishing the causal relationship between the failure of the state business alliance and the governance crisis facing the post colonial state Brian C H Fong broadens our understanding of the governance problems and political confrontations in post colonial Hong Kong In turn he posits that although the state business alliance worked effectively for the colonial state in the past it is now a major problem for the post colonial state and suggests that Hong Kong needs a realignment of a new governing coalition Hong Kong's Governance under Chinese Sovereignty will enrich and broaden the existing literature on Hong Kong's public governance whilst casting new light on the territory's political developments As such it will be welcomed by students and scholars interested in Chinese politics Hong Kong politics and governance The A to Z of the Hong Kong SAR and the Macao SAR Ming K. The Origins of the Developmental State in Taiwan J. Megan Greene,2008-04-30 The rapid growth of Taiwan's postwar miracle economy is most frequently credited to the leading role of the state in promoting economic development Megan

Greene challenges this standard interpretation in the first in depth examination of the origins of Taiwan's developmental state. Greene examines the ways in which the Guomindang state planned and promoted scientific and technical development both in mainland China between 1927 and 1949 and on Taiwan after 1949. Using industrial science policy as a lens, she shows that the state even during its most authoritarian periods did not function as a monolithic entity. State planners were concerned with maximizing the use of Taiwan's limited resources for industrial development. Political leaders on the other hand were most concerned with the state's political survival. The developmental state emerged gradually as a result of the combined efforts of technocrats and outsiders including academicians and foreign advisors. Only when the political leadership put its authority and weight behind the vision of these early planners did Taiwan's developmental state fully come into being. In Taiwan's combination of technocratic expertise and political authoritarianism lie implications for our understanding of changes taking place in mainland China today.
