Stanton, 1987-01-01 Women, Portraiture and the Crisis of Identity in Victorian England Colleen Denney, 2017-07-28 Exploring the concept of portrait as memoir Women Portraiture and the Crisis of Identity in Victorian England My Lady Scandalous Reconsidered examines the images and lives of four prominent Victorian women who steered their way through scandal to forge unique identities The volume shows the effect of celebrity and even notoriety on the lives of Mary Elizabeth Braddon Lady Dilke Millicent Garrett Fawcett and Sarah Grand For these women their portraits were more than speaking likenesses whether painted or photographic they became crucial tools the women used to negotiate their controversial identities Women Portraiture and the Crisis of Identity in Victorian England shows that the fascinating power of celebrity and specifically its effects on women was as much of a phenomenon in Victorian times as it is today Colleen Denney explores how these women used their portraits as tools of persuasion performing a domestic masquerade to secure privacy and acceptance or sites of resistance tearing down male constructions of female propriety and fighting Victorian stereotypes of intellectual women Questioning the classic Victorian notions of separate spheres this volume celebrates women's search for self within the constraints of the nineteenth century as well as within the world of present day academia Daily Modernism Elizabeth Podnieks, 2000-01-26 Redrawing established boundaries between genres Podnieks builds a broad critical and theoretical range on which she maps the diary as an aesthetic work showing how diaries inscribe the aesthetics of literary modernisms Drawing on feminist theory literary history biography and personal anecdotes she argues that the diary is an especially subversive space for women writers Podnieks details how Virginia Woolf Antonia White Elizabeth Smart and Ana's Nin wrote their diaries under the pretence that they were private while always intending them to be published She travelled extensively to examine the original diary manuscripts and offers unique first hand descriptions of the manuscripts that underscore the artistic intentions of their authors Daily Modernism contributes to the ongoing feminist revision of literary history and in its disruption of traditional concepts of major and minor literary forms paves the way for a much needed reconsideration of the diary as a valid literary achievement

The Feminization of

Quest-Romance Dana A. Heller, 1990-12-01 What happens when a woman dares to imagine herself a hero? Questing she sets out for unknown regions. Lighting a torch she elicits from the darkness stories never told or heard before. The woman hero sails against the tides of great legends that recount the adventures of heroic men, legends deemed universal, timeless and essential to our understanding of the natural order that holds us and completes us in its spiral. Yet these myths and rituals do not fulfill her need for an empowering self image nor do they grant her the mobility she requires to imagine, enact and represent her quest for authentic self knowledge. The Feminization of Quest Romance proposes that a female quest is a revolutionary step in both literary and cultural terms. Indeed, despite the difficulty that women writers face in challenging myths, rituals, psychological theories and literary conventions deemed universal by a culture that exalts masculine ideals and universalizes male experience, a number of revolutionary texts have come into existence in the second half of the twentieth century by such American women writers as Jean Stafford, Mary McCarthy, Anne Moody, Marilynne Robinson and Mona Simpson, all of them working to redefine the literary portrayal of American women's quests. They work in part by presenting questing female characters who refuse to accept the roles accorded them by restrictive social norms, even if it means sacrificing themselves in the name of rebellion. In later texts, female heroes survive their lighting out experiences to explore diverse alternatives to the limiting roles that have circumscribed female development. This study of The Mountain Lion, Memories of a Catholic Girlhood, Coming of Age in Mississippi, Housekeeping and Anywhere but Here identifies transformations of the quest romance that support a viable theory of female development and offer literary patterns that challenge the male monopoly on transformative knowledge and heroic action.

Woman's Body, Woman's Word Fedwa Malti-Douglas, 2019-01-15 Woman's voice and body are closely entwined in the Arabo-Islamic tradition, argues Fedwa Malti-Douglas in this pioneering book. Spanning the ninth through twentieth centuries and covering a wide range of texts from courtly anecdote to mystical and philosophical treatises, from works of geography to autobiography, this study reveals how woman's access to literary speech has remained mediated through her body. Malti-Douglas first analyzes classical texts, both well-known works like The Thousand and One Nights and others still ignored in the West in which the female voice often associated with wit or trickery of a sexual nature is subordinated to the male scriptor. Showing how early Arabo-Islamic discourse continues to influence contemporary Arabic writing, she maintains that today feminist writers of novels, short stories and autobiography must work through this tradition, even if they subvert or reject it in the end. Whereas woman in the classical period speaks through the body, woman in the modern period often turns corporeality into a literary weapon to achieve power over discourse. Fedwa Malti-Douglas is Professor of Arabic and Comparative Literature at the University of Texas at Austin. Her books include Structures of Avarice: The Bukhala in Medieval Arabic Literature (Leiden) and Blindness and Autobiography: Al Ayyam of Taha Husayn (Princeton). Originally published in 1991, The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print-on-demand technology to again make available previously out-of-print books from the distinguished backlist of

Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

‘Bethinke Thy Selfe’ in Early Modern England Ulrike Tancke, 2010-01-01 Early modern women writers are typically studied as voices from the margin who engage in a counter discourse to patriarchy and whose identities prefigure postmodern notions of fragmented selfhood Studying a variety of literary forms autobiographical writings diaries mothers advice books poetry and drama this innovative book approaches early modern women s strategies of identity formation from an alternative angle their self writings should be understood as attempts to establish a coherent stable and convincing subjectivity in spite of the constraints they encountered While the authors acknowledge contradiction and ambiguity they consistently strive to compromise and achieve balance Drawing on social and cultural history feminist theory psychoanalysis and the study of discourses the close reading of the women s texts and other literary and non literary sources reveals that the female writers seek to reconcile the affective corporeal social economic and ideological dimensions of their identities and thereby question both the modern idea of the unified self and its postmodern fragmented variant The women s identities as writers mothers spouses household members and economic agents testify to their acceptance of contradictions their adherence to patriarchal norms and simultaneous self assertion Their pragmatic stances suggest that their simultaneous confidence and anxiety should be taken seriously as tentative precarious yet ultimately workable and convincing expressions of identity

Ellen Glasgow and a Woman's Traditions Pamela R. Matthews, 1994 Ellen Glasgow wrote and published nineteen novels as well as poems short stories essays reviews and an autobiography published posthumously in a career that spanned nearly fifty years Until now her writings have not been subject to feminist revaluation in the way that works of such writers as Charlotte Perkins Gilman or Willa Cather have been In Ellen Glasgow and a Woman s Traditions Pamela R Matthews initiates such a revaluation by taking into account not only Glasgow s gender and her perception of her role as a woman writer but the reader s gender and mis understanding of

Glasgow Using current feminist psychological theory she assesses what Glasgow faced as a woman writer caught between the nineteenth and twentieth centuries examines the traditions in place at these times and analyzes the influence on Glasgow of her female friendships This shifting of critical perspective yields entirely new interpretations and closes the gap that has existed between standard criticisms of Glasgow and the effect that Glasgow has had on her readers Literary Secretaries/Secretarial Culture Leah Price,2017-05-15 Secretaries are the hidden technicians of much literary and non literary writing they also figure startlingly often as characters in modern literature film and even literary criticism Literary Secretaries Secretarial Culture brings together secretaries role in the production and more surprisingly consumption of modern culture with interpretations of their function in literature and film from Chaucer to Heidegger by way of Dickens Dracula and Erle Stanley Gardner These essays probe the relation of office practice to literary theory asking what changes when literary texts represent address or acknowledge the human copyist or the mechanical writing machine Topics range from copyright law to voice recognition software from New Women to haunted typewriters and from the history of technology to the future of information management Together the essays will provide literary critics with a new angle on current debates about gender labour and the material text as well as a window into the prehistory of our information age Versions of Deconversion John D. Barbour,1994 In Versions of Deconversion John Barbour examines the work of a broad selection of authors in order to discover the reasons for their loss of faith and to analyze the ways in which they have interpreted that loss For some the experience of deconversion led to another religious faith some turned to atheism or agnosticism and others used deconversion as a metaphor or analogy to interpret an experience of personal transformation The loss of faith is closely related to such vital ethical and theological concerns as the role of conscience the assessment of religious communities the dialectical relationship between faith and doubt and the struggle to reconcile faith with intellectual and moral integrity This book shows the persistence and the vitality of the theme of deconversion in autobiography and it demonstrates how the literary form and structure of autobiography are shaped by ethical critique and religious reflection Versions of Deconversion should appeal at once to scholars in the fields of religious studies and theology who are concerned with narrative texts to literary critics and specialists on autobiography and to a wider audience interested in the ethical and religious significance of autobiography Wanderwords Maria Lauret,2014-09-25 How do immigrant writers negotiate their representation of a multilingual world for a monolingual audience Does their English betray the presence of another language is that other language erased or does it appear here and there on special occasions for special reasons Do words and meanings wander from one language and one self to another Do the psychic and cultural worlds of different languages split apart or merge What is the aesthetic effect of such wandering splitting or merging Usually described as code switches by linguists fragments of other languages have wandered into American literature in English from the beginning Wanderwords asks what in the memoirs poems essays and fiction of a variety of twentieth and twenty first century writers the function and meaning of such language migration might be It shows what there is to be gained if we learn to read migrant writing with an eye and an ear for linguistic difference and it concludes that freighted with the other cultural meanings wrapped up in their different looks and sounds wanderwords can perform wonders of poetic signification as well as cultural critique Bringing together literary and cultural theory with linguistics as well as the theory and history of migration and with psychoanalysis for its understanding of the multilingual unconscious Wanderwords engages closely with the work of well known and unheard of writers such as Mary Antin and Eva Hoffman Richard Rodriguez and Junot Diaz Theresa Hak Kyung Cha and Bharati Mukherjee Edward Bok and Truus van Bruinessen Susana Ch vez Silverman and Gustavo Perez Firmat Pietro DiDonato and Don DeLillo In so doing a poetics of multilingualism unfolds that stretches well beyond translation into the lingual contact zone of English with other languages that is American literature belatedly re connecting with the world
