Himalayas Sanjoy Hazarika, Reshmi Banerjee, 2017-07-06 The Eastern Himalaya region covers a geographical area that spans five nations and has diverse landscapes a multitude of ethnic groups and a rich variety of flora and fauna The region is relatively poor in terms of GDP and per capita income industrialisation and infrastructure is under developed climate induced disasters are frequent and maternal and infant mortality rates are high Economic constraints combined with restrictive cultural norms create barriers for women in education employment and decision making thus further entrenching unequal gender relations This book explores the ways in which gender sensitive and inclusive policies can be developed to address the basic issues of marginalisation livelihood poverty and vulnerability in the Eastern Himalayas The chapters in the volume touch upon current concerns such as the economic and social challenges faced by women their control over resources questions of patriarchy discrimination gender rights and equity information empowerment and participation and women as agents of change This volume will be useful to researchers and scholars in gender studies sociology and social anthropology development studies economic and human geography politics northeast and Himalayan studies South Asian studies as well as policymakers and those in the development sector and non governmental organisations

Property Rights, Intersectionality, and Women's Empowerment in Nepal Pradhan, Rajendra, Meinzen-Dick, Ruth Suseela, Theis, Sophie, 2018-01-05 In this paper we explore how different norms around property rights affect the empowerment of women of different social positions over the life cycle We first review the conceptual foundations of property empowerment and intersectionality and then present the methodology and empirical findings from ethnographic field work in Nepal Going beyond formal ownership of property we look at changes in property rights over personal and joint property at different stages of women's lives Finally the paper makes recommendations for how research and development projects especially in South Asia can avoid misinterpreting asset and empowerment data by incorporating nuance around the concepts of property rights over the household life cycle

Political Change and Public

Culture in Post-1990 Nepal Michael J. Hutt, Pratyoush Onta, 2017 This book explores various domains of the Nepali public sphere in which ideas about democracy and citizenship have been debated and contested since 1990 It investigates the ways in which the public meaning of the major political and sociocultural changes that occurred in Nepal between 1990 and 2013 was constructed conveyed and consumed These changes took place against the backdrop of an enormous growth in literacy the proliferation of print and broadcast media the emergence of a public discourse on human rights and the vigorous reassertion of linguistic ethnic and regional identities Scholars from a range of different disciplinary locations delve into debates on rumours ethnicity and identity activism and gender to provide empirically grounded histories of the nation during one of its most important political transitions

Worlds of Knowing Jane Duran, 2013-04-15 Jane Duran's Worlds of Knowing begins to fill an enormous gap in the literature of feminist epistemology: a wide-ranging cross-cultural primer on worldviews and epistemologies of various cultures and their appropriations by indigenous feminist movements in those cultures. It is the much-needed epistemological counterpart to work on cross-cultural feminist social and political philosophy. This project is absolutely breath-taking in scope yet a manageable read for anyone with some background in feminist theory, history, or anthropology. Duran draws many comparisons and connections to Western philosophical and feminist ideas yet avoids facile or imperialistic over-universalization. Her book is powerful, comprehensive, and brave. It will prove an enormously useful resource for scholars in women's studies, philosophy, anthropology, religious studies, and history.

Cross-Cultural Marriage Rosemary Breger, Rosanna Hill, 2021-02-25 As societies world-wide become increasingly multicultural, so the issues of identity, belonging, tolerance, and racism become imperative to understand in their various forms. This book adds to the discussion by examining the interface between the lived personal experiences of people in cross-cultural marriages and wider socio-political issues. One major contribution this book offers is that the marriages discussed are from a very broad range of cultures and classes. Amongst other issues, contributors examine the legal and social factors influencing cross-cultural marriages, the personality factors and positive or negative stereotypes of otherness that influence spouse choice, notions of identity, gender, and personhood, and definitions of difference, and how these are often tied up in emotive stereotypes. How all these factors affect the ongoing process of living together and the ability to cope, and how the children of such marriages come to terms with identity choices. This book should be highly relevant to the growing number of people in cross-cultural marriages as well as to professionals in the fields of marriage guidance, child welfare, and academics interested in ethnicity and kinship.

Religion, Secularism, and Ethnicity in Contemporary Nepal David N. Gellner, Sondra L. Hausner, Chiara Letizia, 2020-01-01 The socio-political landscape of Nepal has been rocked by dramatic and far-reaching changes in the past thirty years. Following a ten-year Maoist revolution and civil war, the country has transitioned from a monarchy to a republic. The former Hindu kingdom has declared its commitment to secularism without coming to any agreement on what secularism means or should mean in the Nepalese context. What happens to religion under conditions of such rapid social and political change? How do the changes in public festivals reflect and/or create new group identities? Is the gap between the urban and the rural narrowing? How is the state dealing with Nepal's multicultural and multi-religious society? How are Nepalis understanding, resisting, and adapting ideas of secularism? In order to answer these important questions, this volume brings together eleven case studies by an international team of anthropologists and ethno-historians of Nepal on such diverse topics as secularism, individualism, shamanism, animal sacrifice, the role of state functionaries in festivals, clashes and synergies between Maoism and Buddhism, and conversion to Christianity. In an Afterword, renowned political theorist Rajeev Bhargava presents a comparative analysis of Nepal's experiences and asks whether the country is finding its own solution to the conundrum of secularism      An Ethnohistorical Dictionary of China James S. Olson, 1998-02-24 Since Deng Xiaoping's economic reforms began in the early 1980s the People's Republic of China has rejoined global politics as a world power The country is likely to become more open and its internal politics will no doubt affect the rest of the world With more than 1.2 billion people divided into hundreds of ethnic groups all dominated by the Han people China's politics and its foreign policy are bound to be affected by ethnicity and ethnic rivalry This book is designed to give librarians students scholars and educated readers a ready reference for background information of interpreting ethnic events in China Generally defining ethnicity in terms of language this book provides individual essays on hundreds of Chinese ethnic groups including ethnic groups living in the Republic of China on Taiwan The book also includes a chronology bibliography and a breakdown of the People's Republic of China's ethnic political subdivisions      The Status of Women in Nepal, 1981      Himalayan Households Thomas Earl Fricke, 1994 Available for the first time in English this is the definitive account of the practice of sexual slavery the Japanese military perpetrated during World War II by the researcher principally responsible for exposing the Japanese government's responsibility for these atrocities The large scale imprisonment and rape of thousands of women who were euphemistically called comfort women by the Japanese military first seized public attention in 1991 when three Korean women filed suit in a Tokyo District Court stating that they had been forced into sexual servitude and demanding compensation Since then the comfort stations and their significance have been the subject of ongoing debate and intense activism in Japan much if it inspired by Yoshimi's investigations How large a role did the military and by extension the government play in setting up and administering these camps What type of compensation if any are the victimized women due These issues figure prominently in the current Japanese focus on public memory and arguments about the teaching and writing of history and are central to efforts to transform Japanese ways of remembering the war Yoshimi Yoshiaki provides a wealth of documentation and testimony to prove the existence of some 2,000 centers where as many as 200,000 Korean Filipina Taiwanese Indonesian Burmese Dutch Australian and some Japanese women were restrained for months and forced to engage in sexual activity with Japanese military personnel Many of the women were teenagers some as young as fourteen To date the Japanese government has neither admitted responsibility for creating the comfort station system nor given compensation directly to former comfort women This English edition updates the Japanese edition originally published in 1995 and includes introductions by both the author and the translator placing the story in context for American readers      Understanding Disputes Pat Caplan, 2020-08-22 Are disputes ever really resolved or do people need to find ways of accommodating them and living with the consequences Can dispute settlement procedures at the local level be transferred to wider environments In attempting to answer these questions some of the foremost specialists in the anthropology of law and disputing behaviour examine how people in a variety of social settings ranging from Ireland to East Africa deal with quarrels and seek to resolve or accommodate them This stimulating volume should be of interest to anyone concerned about the increase in conflict in many parts of the world

Politics of Culture Tanka Bahadur Subba,1999 This book traces the cultural proximity and the similar destinies of three Kirata communities living in the eastern Himalayas the Limbu the Rai and the Yakkha The author reconstructs the story of these communities on the basis of historical as well as ethnographic data and explains their need to reconstruct today an identity for themselves despite the time and cultural resources they have lost
