This paper attempts to analyze the conceptual development of accounting vis-à-vis the evolution of cost accounting and management accounting from the general accounting system. It also looked into the evolution and promotion of international accounting bodies. The investigation so far revealed that the historical evolution of modern day accounting, from all evidence date to 1211 A.D. when Italian bank was said to have kept a complete double-entry books of accounts. In the light of this therefore, we concluded that the invention of double-entry bookkeeping cannot be ascribed to any individual.

Nobes,2013-12-04 This compilation concerns account books not books on accounting Most of the essays analyse the account book s of a single person or business In each case the account book s demonstrate the presence of at least elements of double entry The essays come in pairs beginning with Geoffrey Lee s paper on Florentine bank ledger fragments of 1211 some of the earliest relics of Italian bookkeeping Subsequent papers trace the development of double entry over the centuries until 1786 when full double entry was achieved There are papers from the UK and USA which illustrate the use of balance sheets valuation techniques and the accruals convention as well as papers which analyse the causes of the development of double entry using the evidence of others Accounting Research, 1948-1958: Selected articles on accounting history David Solomons,Stephen A.
