Goodman, Masanori Miyazawa, 2000-01-01 Shortly before releasing deadly saring as on the Tokyo subway in March 1995 the Aum Shinrikyo religious cult published a vicious 95 page antisemitic tract that declared war on its Jewish archenemy The gassing of the Tokyo subway was the culmination of a century of Japanese theorizing about Jews an important part of which has been antisemitic In recent years books blaming Jews for everything from the designs on Japanese currency to the 1995 Kobe earthquake have appeared and some have sold millions of copies What explains this virtual obsession with Jews in Japan a country that has no Jews In this highly original cultural and intellectual history David G Goodman and Masanori Miyazawa show that present day Japanese attitudes toward Jews are the result of a process of accretion that began nearly 200 years ago Skillfully tracing the historical development of Japanese images of Jews against the background of the development of modern Japanese culture they describe how these images reflect the great themes of modern Japanese intellectual life Spanning fields ranging from politics to poetry the authors demonstrate how Japanese attitudes toward Jews have had real political and cultural consequences culminating in the 1995 subway gassing and resonating into the twenty first century 2009 Poet's Market - Listings Editors Of Writers Digest Books, 2008-07-01 2009 Poet s Market will give you all the information necessary to research markets and submit your poetry for publication In addition to market listings you ll find guidance for preparing and submitting manuscripts identifying markets relating to editors and more Plus the book includes additional listings for conferences workshops organizations for poets print and online resources and the latest trends in poetry writing and publishing Re-examining the Holocaust through Literature Aukje Kluge, Benn E. Williams, 2009-03-26 In the late 1980s Holocaust literature emerged as a provocative but poorly defined scholarly field The essays in this volume reflect the increasingly international and pluridisciplinary nature of this scholarship and the widening of the definition of Holocaust literature to include comic books fiction film and poetry as well as the more traditional diaries memoirs and journals Ten contributors from four countries engage issues of authenticity evangelicalism morality representation personal experience and wish fulfillment in Holocaust literature which have been the subject of controversies in the US Europe and the Middle East Of interest to students and instructors of antisemitism national and comparative literatures theater film history literary criticism religion and Holocaust studies this book also

Tony Harrison and the Holocaust Antony Rowland, 2001-06-01 This book argues that Tony Harrison's poetry is barbaric It revisits one of the most misquoted passages of twentieth century philosophy Theodor Adorno's apparent dismissal of post Holocaust poetry as impossible or barbaric His statement is reinterpreted as opening up the possibility that the awkward and embarrassing poetics of writers such as Harrison might be re evaluated as committed responses to the worst horrors of twentieth century history Most of the existing critical work on Harrison focuses on his representation of class which occludes his interest in other aspects of historiography The poet s predilection for establishing links between the atrocities perpetrated by the Nazis the bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki and the prospect of global annihilation is examined as a commitment to oppose the dangers of linguistic silence Hence Harrison's work can be read fruitfully within the growing field of Holocaust Studies his texts enter into arguments about the ethics of representing traumatic incidents that still haunt the contemporary Harrison's status as a non-victim author of the events is stressed throughout His writing of the Holocaust allied bombings and atom bomb is mediated by his reception of the events through newsreels as a child and his adoption and subversion as an adult poet of traditional poetic forms such as the elegy and sonnet This book also discusses the ways in which Holocaust literature engages with a number of concepts challenged or altered by the historical events such as love mourning memory humanism culture and barbarism articulacy and silence The Oxford Handbook of British and Irish War Poetry Tim Kendall, 2007-02-22 The Handbook ranges widely and in depth across 20th century war poetry incorporating detailed discussions of some of the key poets of the period It is an essential resource for scholars of particular poets and for those interested in wider debates Contributors include some of the most important international poetry critics 2009 Poet's Market Editors Of Writers Digest Books, 2008-07-01 2009 Poet's Market will give you all the of our time information necessary to research markets and submit your poetry for publication In addition to market listings you ll find guidance for preparing and submitting manuscripts identifying markets relating to editors and more Plus the book includes additional listings for conferences workshops organizations for poets print and online resources and the latest trends in poetry writing and publishing Hyam Plutzik and the Mosaic of Time Victoria Aarons, Holli G. Levitsky, Hilene Flanzbaum, 2025-09-30 This original collection of essays written by scholars and poets explores the life and work of Hyam Plutzik 1911 1962 whose poetry came to fruition at a time of cultural change set against the historical rupture of the Holocaust and World War II The chapters in this volume explore in depth the influence of both modernist poetics and American Jewish identity on Plutzik's richly figured poetry The son of Russian Jewish immigrants who arrived in the United States during the third great wave of Jewish immigration Plutzik's poetic milieu is inflected with the linguistic mosaic of his cultural inheritance With close focus on his most significant work the individual chapters bring to light complicated issues of Jewish American ethnicity and identity in twentieth century American cultural studies This collection speaks to the legacy of this poet whose work continues to have relevance for Jewish literary studies and poetics Visualizing the Holocaust David Bathrick, Brad Prager, Michael David Richardson, 2008 Visual representations are an essential but highly contested means of understanding and remembering the Holocaust Photographs taken in the camps in early 1945 provided proof of and visceral access to the atrocities Later visual representations such as films paintings and art installations attempted to represent this extreme trauma While photographs from the camps and later aesthetic reconstructions differ in origin they share goals and have raised similar concerns the former are questioned not as to veracity but due to their potential inadequacy in portraying the magnitude of events the latter are criticized on the grounds that the mediation they entail is unacceptable Some have even questioned any attempt to represent the Holocaust as inappropriate and dangerous to historical understanding This book explores the taboos that structure the production and reception of Holocaust images and the possibilities that result from the transgression of those taboos Essays consider the uses of various visual media aesthetic styles and genres in representations of the Holocaust the uses of perpetrator photography the role of trauma in memory aesthetic problems of mimesis and memory in the work of Lanzmann Celan and others and questions about mass cultural representations of the Holocaust David Bathrick is Emeritus Professor of German at Cornell University Brad Prager is Associate Professor of German at Ithaca College
