The Holocaust In American Film Judaic Traditions In Literature Music And Art:

The Holocaust in American Film Judith E. Doneson, 2002-01-01 This work offers insights into how specific films influenced the Americanization of the Holocaust and how the medium per se helped seed that event into the public consciousness In addition to an in depth study on films produced for both theatrical release and TV since 1937 including The Great Dictator Cabaret Julia and the mini series Holocaust this work provides an analysis of Schindler s List and the debate over the merit of Spielberg s vision of the Holocaust It also examines more thoroughly made for television movies such as Escape From Sobibor Playing For Time and War and Remembrance A special chapter on The Diary of Anne Frank discusses the evolution of that singularly European work into a universal symbol Paying special attention to the tumultuous 1960s in America it assesses the effect of the era on Holocaust films made during that time It also discusses how these films helped integrate the Holocaust into the fabric of American society transforming it into a metaphor for modern suffering Finally the work explores cinema in relation to the Americanization of the Jewish image

The Art and Artists of the Fifth Zionist Congress, 1901 Gilya Gerda Schmidt, 2003-10-01 Martin Buber and friends successfully lobbied the congress for inclusion of cultural Zionism into the official agenda of the Zionist organization resulting in the establishment of the Bezalel Art Institute in Jerusalem in 1905 In the first book of its kind Gilya Gerda Schmidt places this art exhibition in the context of political Zionism as well as anti Semitism Jews had been denied the opportunity to be creative and religious Zionists feared that Jewish culture would usurp religion within the Zionist movement Hermann Struck an artist and Orthodox Jew became a founding member of the religious Zionist Party further supporting Buber s assertion that culture and religion were not at odds The forty eight works of art in the exhibition were created by eleven artists all but two of whom were famous in their lifetime Until now their works had been largely forgotten In the last decade contributing artists Ephraim Lilien Lesser Ury Jozef Israels Struck and Maurycy Gottlieb have enjoyed a revival of their work

Holocaust Impiety in Jewish American Literature Joost Krijnen, 2016-05-02 The Holocaust is often said to be unrepresentable Yet since the 1990s a new generation of Jewish American writers have been returning to this history again and again insisting on engaging with it in highly playful comic and impious ways Focusing on the fiction of Michael Chabon Jonathan Safran Foer Nicole Krauss and Nathan Englander this book suggests that this literature cannot simply be dismissed as insensitive or improper It argues that these Jewish American authors engage with the Holocaust in ways that renew and ensure its significance for contemporary generations These ways moreover are intricately connected to efforts of finding new means of expressing Jewish American identity and of moving beyond the increasingly apparent problems of postmodernism

The Wishing-Ring S. Y. Framing Jewish Culture Simon J. Bronner, 2014-01-01 Modernity offers people choices about who they want to be and how they want to appear to others The way in which Jews choose to frame their identity establishes the dynamic of their social relations with other Jews and non Jews a dynamic complicated by how non Jews position the boundaries around what and who they define as Jewish This book uncovers these processes historically as well as in contemporary behavior and finds explanations for the various manifestations in feeling and action of being Jewish Boundaries and borders raise fundamental questions about the difference between Jews and non Jews At root the question is how Jewish is understood in social situations where people recognize or construct boundaries between their own identity and those of others The question is important because this is by definition the point at which the lines of demarcation between Jews and non Jews and between different groupings of Jews are negotiated Collectively the contributors to the book expand our understanding of the social dynamics of framing Jewish identity The book opens with an introduction that locates the issues raised by the contributors in terms of the scholarly traditions from which they have evolved Part I presents four essays dealing with the construction and maintenance of boundaries two by scholars showing how boundaries come to be etched on an ethnic landscape and two by activists who question and adjust distinctions among neighbors Part II focuses on expressive means of conveying identity and memory while in Part III the discussion turns to museum exhibitions and festive performances as locations for the negotiation of identity in the public sphere A lively discussion forum concludes the book with a consideration of the paradoxes of Jewish heritage revival in Poland and the perception of that revival by Jews and non Jews American Book Publishing Record
