Greta Garbo P Renoir,2021-10-18 Greta Garbo born Greta Lovisa Gustafsson on 18th September 1905 in S dermalm Stockholm Sweden was an actress during the 20s and 30s Garbo was nominated 3 times for the Academy Award for Best Actress having received an Academy Honorary Award in 1954 for her luminous and unforgettable screen performances The American Film Institute ranked Garbo 5th on their list of the greatest female stars of classic Hollywood cinema during 1999 Greta launched her career with a secondary role in the Swedish movie The Saga of G sta Berling in 1924 Her performance caught the attention of Louis B Mayer chief executive of Metro Goldwyn Mayer MGM who took her to Hollywood the following year Garbo soon attracted attention with her first American silent film Torrent 1926 then her performance in Flesh and the Devil 1927 her third motion picture made her an international star Greta s first talking movie was Anna Christie 1930 to which MGM enticed the public with the tagline Garbo talks having starred in Romance that same year Greta received the first of 3 Academy Award nominations for Best Actress for her performances in these films Academy rules then allowing for a performer to receive a single nomination for their work in more than one picture Garbo s success allowed her to dictate the terms of her contract during 1932 having become increasingly selective about her roles her next pictures including Mata Hari 1931 Grand Hotel 1932 and Queen Christina 1933 Many critics and film historians regard Greta s performance as the doomed courtesan Marguerite Gautier in Camille 1936 to be her finest leading to her 2nd Academy Award nomination

Legends of Hollywood Charles River Editors,2013-12 Includes pictures Includes a bibliography for further reading Her instinct her mastery over the machine was pure witchcraft I cannot analyze this woman s acting I only know that no one else so effectively worked in front of a camera Bette Davis Of all the great movie stars there may be none more enigmatic than

Greta Garbo who remains internationally famous despite the fact her life and career raise more questions than answers How did a Swedish actress with very little film acting experience in her native land arrive in the United States and achieve instant stardom Most actresses had to wait years before they were offered starring roles in major films yet Garbo was ushered to the front of the line and perched atop the MGM pantheon at a time in which it was the studio par excellence How was she able to transition from silent films to talkies so fluidly giving many of her most decorated performances during the 1930s While stars like Charlie Chaplin never recovered from cinema s transition to synchronized sound Garbo flourished which is made all the more amazing by the fact she had a foreign accent that could easily have alienated American audiences and threatened her career Finally and perhaps most mystifying of all why would Garbo retire in 1941 at just 36 years of age and two years removed from Ninotchka arguably her most acclaimed film As unique as Greta Garbo and her career were there is no denying the impact that she had on audiences both critics and working class viewers Not only was she the most lucrative star in the country by 1928 she also provoked awe from some of the most venerable film and cultural theorists who attempted to articulate exactly what it was about her that proved so arresting Swenson Writing about her in a famous essay devoted to her face Roland Barthes asserted Garbo still belongs to that moment in cinema when capturing the human face still plunged audiences into the deepest ecstasy when one literally lose oneself in a human image as one would in a philtre when the face represented a kind of absolute state of the flesh which could be neither reached nor renounced A few years earlier the face of Valentino was causing suicides that of Garbo still partakes of the same rule of Courtly Love where the flesh gives rise to mystical feelings of perdition Barthes description hints at how Garbo s face was the primary attraction of her films to the point that she achieved a spellbinding influence that made her one of the true goddesses of film history At the same time for as famous as Greta Garbo is as an actress her films are not remembered so positively if they are remembered at all While Garbo herself was nominated on three occasions for the Academy Award for Best Actress only one film of hers Grand Hotel 1932 was even nominated for an Academy Award for Best Picture For the most part Garbo acted in films that were seemingly well beneath her which was certainly the case with her films from the silent era During the late 1920s for example she was routinely paired with leading man John Gilbert yet out of the films they appeared in together Flesh and the Devil 1926 Love 1927 A Woman of Affairs 1928 and Queen Christina 1933 only the latter is well remembered today Even the first film for which she was nominated for an Oscar Romance 1930 is commemorated only by Garbo s most fervent admirers Ironically enough it was just as Garbo neared the end of her career that she was just beginning to star in more critically revered films movies such as Anna Karenina 1935 Camille 1936 and most of all Ninotchka 1939 Legends of Hollywood The Life and Legacy of Greta Garbo explores the life and career of Greta Garbo analyzing her fame and how a notably shy young girl rose to the top of Hollywood

Greta Garbo David Bret, 2012-06-25 In the male oriented studio system Greta Garbo wielded a power no other actress has ever possessed before or since Be it producer director lover or journalist Garbo called the shots and when she decided that she was done with the whirlwind of life as Hollywood's darling she withdrew completely leaving her public begging for an encore that never came. Though there have been numerous biographies of Garbo this is the first to investigate fully the two so called missing periods in the life of this most enigmatic of Hollywood stars: the first during the late 1920s forcing MGM to employ a lookalike to conceal what was almost certainly a pregnancy; the second during World War II when Garbo was employed by British Intelligence to track down Nazi sympathisers. It also analyses in detail the original uncensored copies of Garbo's films with the exception of The Divine Woman of which no complete print survives and offers substantial evidence that John Gilbert was not in fact the great love of her life. Rather her true affections lay with the gay Sapphic and Scandinavian members of her very intimate inner circle. Using previously unsourced material along with anecdotes from friends and colleagues that have never before been published David Bret paints a rounded portrait of Garbo's childhood in Sweden, her rise to stardom and her all too brief reign as queen of MGM. Hers is a truly remarkable story recounted here with warmth, intensity and unique insight. The Life and Films of Humphrey Bogart, Greta Garbo, 1967

The Great Garbo Robert Payne, 2002-09-06 This revealing and insightful biography of screen icon Greta Garbo contains over 100 luxurious photos from her films and her life. The Films of Greta Garbo Michael Conway, 1968 Film History, 2006 Hollywood's Most Famous Silent Film Actresses Charles River Editors, 2017-06-27 Includes pictures. Includes the actresses' quotes about their lives and films. Includes online resources and a bibliography for further reading. At the end of the 20th century the American Film Institute compiled a list of the 25 greatest actors and actresses in Hollywood over the past 100 years but only a select few worked all the way back in the silent era of films before talkies revolutionized the industry at the end of the 1920s. Among them was Mary Pickford who was ranked 24th but was arguably the most influential actress when it came to creating the career template for all actresses who followed from name changes to salary. Like many actresses of the early 20th century Little Mary got her start by acting on the stage and she eventually made it to Broadway. By the time she had finished her run there she had caught the eye of film director D. W. Griffith who would go on to make Birth of a Nation and was working for the Biograph at the time. Over the next several years Pickford became the most famous actress in the industry with only Charlie Chaplin rivaling her in popularity to the extent that one film reviewer wrote she was the best known woman who has ever lived, the woman who was known to more people and loved by more people than any other woman that has been in all history. Of all the great movie stars there may be none more enigmatic than Greta Garbo who remains internationally famous despite the fact her life and career raise more questions than answers. How did a Swedish actress with very little film acting experience in her native land arrive in the United States and achieve instant stardom? Most actresses had to wait years before they were offered starring roles in major films yet Garbo was ushered to the front of the line and perched atop the MGM pantheon at a time in which it was the studio par excellence. How was she able to transition from silent films to talkies so fluidly giving many of her most decorated performances during the 1930s? While stars like

Charlie Chaplin never recovered from cinema's transition to synchronized sound Garbo flourished which is made all the more amazing by the fact she had a foreign accent that could easily have alienated American audiences and threatened her career Finally and perhaps most mystifyingly of all why would Garbo retire in 1941 at just 36 years of age and two years removed from Ninotchka arguably her most acclaimed film At the same time for as famous as Greta Garbo is as an actress her films are not remembered so positively if they are remembered at all While Garbo herself was nominated on three occasions for the Academy Award for Best Actress only one film of hers Grand Hotel 1932 was even nominated for an Academy Award for Best Picture For the most part Garbo acted in films that were seemingly well beneath her which was certainly the case with her films from the silent era It goes without saying that the most enduring image of Gloria Swanson is the famous shot of her in Sunset Boulevard 1950 head tilted backward stating Alright Mr DeMille I m ready for my close up Indeed for many the very mention of Gloria Swanson conjures the name of Norma Desmond her character in Sunset Boulevard directed by Billy Wilder That the shot of Desmond requesting her close up remains indelibly imprinted in the minds of so many speaks in large part to the power of Sunset Boulevard one of the most revered films of its times and the most famous film of Gloria Swanson's career By dint of her performance in the film Swanson has become almost synonymous with Hollywood's silent era In many respects LIFE ,1955-01-10 LIFE Magazine is the treasured photographic magazine that chronicled the 20th Century It now lives on at LIFE com the largest most amazing collection of professional photography on the internet Users can browse search and view photos of today's people and events They have free access to share print and post images for personal use
