The First Twenty Years A Segment Of Film History:

The First Twenty Years Kemp R. Niver, 1968 This book concerns over one hundred motion pictures copyrighted 1894-1922 which were selected from the more than 3 000 films restored from the Library of Congress paper print collection

Introduction A History of the Screenplay S. Price, 2013-11-26 The screenplay is currently the focus of extensive critical re evaluation however as yet there has been no comprehensive study of its historical development International in scope and placing emphasis on the development and variety of screenplay texts themselves this book will be an important and innovative addition to the current literature

The Man Who Made Movies Paul Spehr, 2008-11-17 The story of W K L Dickson assistant to Edison inventor and key figure in early cinematography Valuable and comprehensive Communication Booknotes Quarterly W K L Dickson was Thomas Edison s assistant in charge of the experimentation that led to the Kinetoscope and Kinetograph the first commercially successful moving image machines In 1891-1892 he established what we know today as the 35mm format Dickson also designed the Black Maria film studio and facilities to develop and print film and supervised production of more than one hundred films for Edison After leaving Edison he became a founding member of the American Mutoscope Company which later became the American Mutoscope Biograph then Biograph In 1897 he went to England to set up the European branch of the company Over the course of his career Dickson made between five hundred and seven hundred films which are studied today by scholars of the early cinema This well illustrated book offers a window onto early film history from the perspective of Dickson s own oeuvre

The American Theatrical Film John C. Tibbetts, 1985 This book provides needed information on the collaborations between filmmakers and theater personnel before 1930 and completes our understanding of how two art forms influenced each other It begins with the vaudeville and faerie dramas captured in brief films by the Edison and Biograph companies follows the development of feature length Sarah Bernhardt and James O Neill films after 1912 examines the formation of theater film combination companies in 1914-15 and details later collaborations during the talking picture revolution of 1927 Includes detailed analyses of important theatrical films like The Count of Monte Cristo The Virginian Coquette and Paramount on Parade

Suspense and Resolution in the Films of D.W. Griffith George Pavlou, 2018-12-21 This book offers a significant and original contribution to studies on D W Griffith and film through a systematic analysis of the director s chase scenes which create suspense and resolution in his films The predominance of the emphasis of building suspense differs in the various stages of his chase scenes The primary source of material discussed here is Griffith s films after 1913 when he left the Biograph Company Griffith s post Biograph films are more complete and representative of his techniques than his earlier films which were subject to financial constraints while he was still innovating and developing his cinematic techniques Most of his films used in this analysis were provided by the Museum of Modern Art in New York City The purpose of this study is to determine a definition of a Griffithian chase scene in terms of his editing techniques Categories are established defining specific tools This is done by determining and documenting consistencies comparisons and specific patterns occurring in his chase scenes that generally do not occur in his general editing Griffith's basic mechanics in editing are filmic time and space parallel action referential crosscutting and decomposition A major finding in this book is that Griffith's chase scenes are the most important part of his films in terms of suspense and resolution His chase scenes are complex unique and sometimes even unpredictable As such this is an important new work on D W Griffith and will be of interest to scholars and others interested in both the director and film and will also be an asset to libraries and bookstores Florence Lawrence, the Biograph Girl Kelly R.

Brown, 2014-09-18 Florence Lawrence's film career began just as the cinema was being born She recognized the wonder and appeal of the fledgling industry and her early work with the Vitagraph company gained her a legion of fans and a reputation as a willing and hard working actress In 1908 she appeared in Romeo and Juliet America's very first screen Juliet By 1909 she was working steadily for the Biograph studio she was dubbed the Biograph girl and was being praised for her personal attractions and very fine dramatic ability But just as Lawrence was the first movie star in the industry she was also one of the first to be undone by it Hindered by setbacks grueling work schedules self imposed retirements three marriages repeatedly unsuccessful comeback attempts Lawrence finally committed suicide in 1938 This impressively researched piece of film history represents the first full length biography of Florence Lawrence also called The Girl of a Thousand Faces Among the photographs are some never before published A complete filmography of Lawrence's entire career is provided A summary chapter includes comments from various critics and historians addressing how Lawrence is important to film history The Movies in the Age of Innocence, 3d ed. Edward Wagenknecht, 2014-10-27 Upon its original publication in 1962 Edward Wagenknecht's The Movies in the Age of Innocence immediately earned recognition as a classic in the history of early cinema A tribute to American silent film from the first person perspective of one who grew up with the medium the volume surveys the pre feature and feature era of silent films from a distinctly literary standpoint and considers the careers of directors like D W Griffith and Erich von Stroheim and actors such as Charlie Chaplin Mary Pickford and Lillian Gish With nearly 90 illustrations from early films fan magazines and brochures indices of film titles and names and an appendix containing Wagenknecht's otherwise unavailable 1927 pamphlet Lillian Gish An Interpretation this third edition retains its significance today

Literary Adaptations in Black American Cinema Barbara Tepa Lupack, 2002 By contrast in the works of black writers from Oscar Micheaux to Toni Morrison the black experience has been more fully more accurately and usually more sympathetically realized and from the early days of film select filmmakers have looked to that literature as the basis for their productions The Holy Grail on Film Kevin J. Harty, 2015-02-28 This collection of new essays is the first to study film depictions of the quest for the Holy Grail the holy Christian relic of legend supposedly used by Jesus at the Last Supper Scholars from a range of disciplines discuss American Australian and European films that offer fresh perspectives on this enduring myth of the Arthurian world and Western culture including The Silver Chalice 1954 Monty Python and the Holy

Grail 1975 Excalibur 1981 The Road Warrior 1981 Indiana Jones and the Last Crusade 1989 The Fisher King 1991 The Da Vinci Code 2006 The Waterboy 1998 and Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Undead 2009 The Emergence of Cinema

Questions of Cinema Stephen Heath, 1981 It is essential reading for anyone concerned with the theoretical discussion of cinema and ideology in general Semiotics Heath is an antidote to the Cinema 101 worldview Voice Literary Supplement Heath's study of film draws on Lacanian psychoanalysis semiotics and Marxism presenting film as a signifying practice and the cinema as a social institution of meanings

Early American Cinema in Transition Charlie Keil, 2001-12-10 The period 1907-1913 marks a crucial transitional moment in American cinema As moving picture shows changed from mere novelty to an increasingly popular entertainment fledgling studios responded with longer running times and more complex storytelling A growing trade press and changing production procedures also influenced filmmaking In Early American Cinema in Transition Charlie Keil looks at a broad cross section of fiction films to examine the formal changes in cinema of this period and the ways that filmmakers developed narrative techniques to suit the fifteen minute one reel format Keil outlines the kinds of narratives that proved most suitable for a single reel's duration the particular demands that time and space exerted on this early form of film narration and the ways filmmakers employed the unique features of a primarily visual medium to craft stories that would appeal to an audience numbering in the millions He underscores his analysis with a detailed look at six films The Boy Detective The Forgotten Watch Rose O' Salem Town Cupid's Monkey Wrench Belle Boyd A Confederate Spy and Suspense

D.W. Griffith: Master of Cinema Ira H. Gallen, 2015-12-15 Exhaustively researched and accessibly written D W Griffith Master of Cinema is a remarkably comprehensive biography of the legendary director and his days creating his craft at the American Biograph Company between 1908 through 1913 Meticulously detailed utilizing a wealth of archival documents and photographs the book effectively details Griffith's place as a film pioneer Even a casual film fan can see the lines being drawn from the techniques Griffith developed to modern cinematic experience Ira Gallen's exploration of Griffith's family and his early life sets the stage for his career and give great context for who he would become His intricate details about early stage and film paint such a vivid and evocative picture of the time that you will be truly drawn into another world while reading it

The Transparency of Spectacle Wheeler W. Dixon, 1998-01-01 Considers the ephemeral nature of the cinematic experience as we now apprehend it and examines the ways in which technological advances in film and moving image production have changed this experience over the course of the last thirty odd years

Early Cinema Thomas Elsaesser, Adam Barker, 2019-07-25 In the twenty years preceding the First World War cinema rapidly developed from a fairground curiosity into a major industry and social institution a source of information and entertainment for millions of people Only recently have film scholars and historians begun to study these early years of cinema in their own right and not simply as first steps towards the classical narrative cinema we now associate with Hollywood The essays in this collection trace the fascinating history of how the cinema developed its forms of storytelling and representation and how it evolved into a complex industry with Hollywood rapidly acquiring a dominant role These issues can be seen to arise from new readings of the so called pioneers Melies Lumiere Porter and Griffith while also suggesting new perspectives on major European filmmakers of the 1910s and 20s Editor Thomas Elsaesser complements the contributions from leading British American and European scholars with introductory essays of his own that provide a comprehensive overview of the field The volume is the most authoritative survey to date of a key area of contemporary film research invaluable to historians as well as to students of cinema

Ghost Images Tom Ruffles, 2015-03-07 The possibility of life after death is a significant theme in cinema in which ghosts return to the world of the living to wrap up unfinished business console their survivors visit lovers or just enjoy a well wreaked scaring This work focuses on film depictions of survival after death from meetings with the ghost of Elvis to AIDS related ghosts apparitions hauntings mediumship representations of heaven angels near death experiences possession poltergeists and all the other ways in which the living interact with the dead on screen The work opens with a historical perspective which outlines the development of pre cinematic technology for projecting phantoms and discusses the use of these skills in early ghost cinema English language sound films are then examined thematically with topics ranging from the expiation of sins to hungry ghosts Six of the most significant films Dead of Night A Matter of Life and Death The Innocents The Haunting The Shining and Jacob s Ladder are given a detailed analysis A conclusion filmography and bibliography follow
