Dusan Kecmanovic,2013-11-11 Throughout the nineteenth and twentieth centuries ethnonationalism has left its indelible mark on Europe and every other continent The latest events in the Balkans in central and eastern Europe and in the former Soviet Union unequivocally testify to the power and influence of ethnonationalism at the end of the second millennium What forces make people so committed to their ethnonational groups that they are ready to ignore all other concerns first and foremost the rights and interests of people of other ethnicities What is the social psychological and anthropological underpinning of ethnonationalism And finally why and how do people adhere to nationalist attitudes and beliefs These questions are virtually impossible to avoid for anyone who has directly felt the impact of ethnonationalism but they also present themselves to anyone who has indirectly experienced the prejudices unleashed by ethnonationalist forces This book attempts to answer all these questions by focusing on national feeling and the social psychological and anthropological foundations that underly the sense of belonging that is essential to nationalism No matter how qualitatively different nationalist attitudes and beliefs are from national sentiment the latter has to be considered in any study of nationalism

A History of Modern Political Thought in East Central Europe is a synthetic work authored by an international team of researchers covering twenty national cultures and 250 years. It goes beyond the conventional nation centered narratives and presents a novel vision especially sensitive to the cross cultural entanglement of political ideas and discourses. Its principal aim is to make these cultures available for the global market of ideas and revisit some of the basic assumptions about the history of modern political thought and modernity as such. The present volume is a sequel to Volume I Negotiating Modernity in the Long Nineteenth Century. It begins with the end of the Great War depicting the colorful intellectual landscape of the interwar period and the increasing political and ideological radicalization culminating in the Second World War. Taking the war experience both as a breaking point but in many ways also a transmitter of previous intellectual traditions, it maps the intellectual paradigms and debates of the immediate postwar years marked by a negotiation between the democratic and communist agendas as well as the subsequent processes of political and cultural Stalinization. Subsequently the post Stalinist period is analyzed with a special focus on the various attempts of de Stalinization and the rise of revisionist Marxism and other critical projects culminating in the carnivalesque but also extremely dramatic year of 1968. This volume is followed by Volume II Negotiating Modernity in the Short Twentieth Century and Beyond Part II 1968-2018.
