The Chessmen of Doom John Bellairs, 2014-04-01 In a thrilling adventure a young sleuth and his professor friend are challenged to solve a riddle and win a fortune Professor Roderick Childermass may be the strangest person Johnny Dixon has ever met but compared to his brother Peregrine the professor is practically normal Peregrine is a born trickster and when he knows his death is near he sends a letter promising the professor his entire 10 000 000 estate assuming he can solve one final riddle The professor feels that his brother is mocking him from beyond the grave If Peregrine were alive he says he'd kill him To crack the puzzle and claim the fortune Johnny and the professor head north to the wild countryside of far off Maine They'll find that the riddle is the least of their problems To inherit the money the professor must stay alive until the end of the summer and since everyone in Maine seems to want Peregrine's heir dead survival will be no easy task From the author of the Lewis Barnavelt novels including The House with a Clock in Its Walls the Johnny Dixon series is full of fun adventure and supernatural chills along with believable and likable characters who are a delight to spend time with The New York Times
